1. SILVER SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WORK MISSION STATEMENT

The mission of the Silver School of Social Work at New York University is to educate professionals in a global perspective for social work practice with individuals, families, groups, and communities and to provide leadership in the development of knowledge relevant to social work practice in a complex urban environment.

The School seeks to fulfill its mission by building and transmitting knowledge that will help to alleviate human suffering, enhance the vitality and caring capacity of communities, and promote the ideals of a humane and just world.

The School is committed to the core social work values of: belief in the dignity and worth of all individuals; the centrality and power of caring human relationships; a commitment to social and economic justice that includes freedom from all forms of oppression and access to social goods; and a dedication to practicing with integrity and the highest level of competence. The School offers programs at the undergraduate, master’s, and doctorate level.

The Bachelor of Science in Social Work (BS) provides students with the knowledge, skills, and ethical standards necessary for beginning social work practice. The BS program is grounded in the liberal arts and emphasizes human rights, social justice and advocacy, which establishes the foundation graduates need to effectively address the social problems of today’s world.

The Master in Social Work (MSW) educates professionals for the pursuit of social justice with an emphasis on direct social work practice that aims to improve biopsychosocial functioning through helping relationships. Dedicated to excellence in integrating teaching and learning in both classroom and community contexts, the MSW Program prepares its graduates to apply critical thinking, research-based knowledge and practice wisdom to restore, maintain, and enhance the functioning and well-being of individuals, families and communities, and promote effective and equitable social policies and social services.

The Doctor of Philosophy in Clinical Social Work (PhD) prepares its graduates to be the intellectual leaders of the social work profession. Students in the PhD program learn to engage in practice-based research and the development of theories relevant to practice, to disseminate new knowledge through professional writing and speaking, and to educate future generations of social workers.

The Doctor of Social Welfare Program in Clinical Social Work (DSW) trains advanced clinical social work practitioner-scholars to assume leadership positions in clinical social work education and agency-based behavioral health practice settings. Through the promotion of practice-relevant scholarship, the program prepares graduates to develop new clinical social work knowledge and skills to advance social work practice and education benefiting client populations-at-risk.
The School is committed to the education of its students in collaboration with community partners and the advancement of the social work profession through the scholarly contributions of its faculty.
MSW Program Goals & Objectives
The educational goals for the MSW Program closely reflect the purposes of social work education as defined in the Council on Social Work Education (CSWE) Curriculum Policy Statement. In addition, they flow directly from the mission of the School. Under each general goal, there are specific objectives for student activity and achievement:

1. To educate for excellence in direct social work practice.
   Students will demonstrate:
   a) an understanding of the generalist practice and advanced clinical concentration curricula leading to the integration of theory and practice across client systems;
   b) knowledge of differential models and social work practice approaches;
   c) a broad knowledge base grounded in a biopsychosocial, person-in-environment and strengths perspective;
   d) knowledge about social welfare history, social policy analysis, the nature of social service organizations, and emerging areas of client, organizational and community need;
   e) professional practice skills in the context of a structured field learning experience in providing social work services to clients;
   f) the ability to review professional literature and use research methods to critically examine professional practice programs and service delivery systems; and
   g) the ability to self-reflect and utilize critical thinking skills necessary for accountable and effective practice.

2. To educate students in the application of professional values and ethics to practice.
   Students will demonstrate:
   a) knowledge of the values of the profession that include belief in the dignity and worth of each individual and a commitment to the promotion of economic and social justice;
   b) an understanding of the NASW professional code of ethics and its application to practice;
   c) adherence to, application and promotion of the profession’s values and ethical principles; and
   d) an understanding of the necessity for active participation in life-long learning and activities to update and improve professional knowledge and skills.

3. To advance student understanding and respect for diversity and difference.
   Students will demonstrate:
   a) a knowledge of how racial, ethnic, cultural, class, gender, sexual orientation, age, and functional abilities impact on human development, social interaction and professional practice;
   b) an understanding of how these factors influence: social policies, the pursuit of social and economic justice and the provision of and access to resources to individuals, families and communities; and
   c) knowledge of immigration and migration related stressors in the context of a complex urban environment.

4. To prepare students to contribute to the realization of the goal of a just society.
Students will demonstrate:
a) the ability to recognize and address individual prejudice and institutional oppression and discrimination;
b) the ability to apply strategies of advocacy and social change to advance social and economic justice; and
c) the ability to use their skills for the good of the client systems and for society at large

Pathways to the MSW Degree
Please see sample curricula for each program in Appendix B.

Two Year Program
The traditional path to the MSW degree, this program attracts the greatest number of students. The period of study for this option is four semesters: fall-spring-fall-spring, including 1,200 hours of field learning. The curriculum consists of a Generalist Practice year followed by an Specialized Practice year in clinical practice with individuals, families, and groups. Students spend two semesters each in two different Field Instruction agencies. These centers are selected from among the more than 500 social service agencies affiliated with the School throughout the metropolitan area. Full time students are required to attend field placement for 21 hours on weekdays during regular business hours (typically 9am – 5pm). The Two Year Program permits, but does not require, study during the summer term.

16 Month Accelerated Program
An accelerated route to the master's degree, the 16 Month sequence of courses is identical to the Two Year Program. This program enables students to begin study in the spring semester and to complete the requirements for the master's degree in four consecutive semesters. The period of study is spring-summer-fall-spring, with 1,200 hours of field learning.

Advanced Standing Program
This program is an option for graduates of a CSWE accredited undergraduate social work program within the past five years. Enrollment is in the Specialized Practice (second year) of the Two Year Program and the period of study is two semesters: fall-spring, including 600 hours of field learning. Study during the summer term is not required. There is an option to complete class work on a schedule of one evening and one Saturday each week.

Extended One-Year Residency (OYR) Program
For employed social workers, this option combines 37 credits of part-time study with one year of full-time study (two semesters with a minimum of 10 credits each), including one field placement of 900 hours. A work-study plan is available to students employed in agencies that provide an appropriate educational experience as determined by the Field Learning and Community Partnerships Office. The period of study ranges from three to four years, including two semesters of Field Instruction.

Extended Program
This flexible program enables each student to complete a study plan arranged with a program advisor. One year of full-time study (two semesters of 10 credits each, including Field Instruction) is required. First year field placement offers some flexibility of hours, but one full weekday is required. Second year extended students are required to attend field 21 hours weekly during regular business hours (typically 9am – 5pm). The period of study ranges from three to four years, including four semesters of Field Instruction. Most students in this program take advantage of the option for study during the summer term.

32 Month Program
Designed for those who work full time, this unique option allows you to earn an MSW degree over a thirty-two month period through evening, weekend and summer study. This program is open only to new first-year MSW students. Students will complete their 65 credits within a learning community cohort that remains the same over the first year of the program. Field placements will be arranged primarily during evening, weekend and summer time periods and students must have availability for 3 hours weekly during regular business hours (typically 9am – 5pm). The program option features a specially coordinated advisement system in which your Practice Instructor is also your Faculty Advisor. You will also participate in a special practice lab over your first 2 semesters designed to prepare you for the field agency placement you will begin in your 3rd semester. The period of study for this option is 8 semesters including summer study, with 1,100 hours of field learning. As in our Two Year Program, the curriculum consists of a Generalist Practice curriculum followed by an Specialized Practice curriculum in clinical practice with individuals and families.

Global MSW Program in Shanghai and New York
This program is similar to the Two-Year MSW program, but students attend the first year at NYU Shanghai and the second year in New York City, at NYU's Washington Square campus. The program is designed for students who want a truly global social work education. Global and multi-cultural content is infused throughout the curriculum. Upon graduation, students will receive an NYU-granted MSW degree.

All courses will be taught in English. Students in their first year will have their field placement at social service agencies and hospitals in Shanghai. This field placement will be in either Chinese or English, depending on a student's language capability. In their second year, students will have their field placement in the greater New York metropolitan area, where a wide variety of agency settings are available. This field placement will be in English.

Non-Matriculated Program
This is an exploratory option for people interested in the field of social work but who have not been admitted to the MSW degree program. One or two courses a semester may be taken without making a commitment to a degree program (maximum of 12 credits or four courses). Students later admitted to the master's program may receive credit for as many as four courses (12 credits) provided that they earn a grade of ‘B’ or better from the following:

- Social Welfare Programs and Policies I
- Diversity, Racism, Oppression and Privilege
- Human Behavior in the Social Environment I
- Human Behavior in the Social Environment II

*At the Rockland and Westchester campuses, non-matriculated students can also take Social Work Research I.

Non-matriculated students must earn a grade of ‘B’ or better to have the credits automatically transfer to the MSW degree.
Dual-Degree Programs

MSW/MA in Child Development
The School has joined with Sarah Lawrence College to offer a dual degree in Social Work and Child Development. Students in this program can pursue study leading to an MSW degree and a master's degree in Child Development. Admission to both programs is required. By taking courses that are acceptable for transfer credit in each of the schools involved and through careful course planning, the dual degree student can complete both degrees full-time in three years. The program can also be completed on a part-time basis. Ninety-five credits (instead of 113) are required, including a thesis for the master’s in Child Development (10 credits).

All classes in Child Development are held at Sarah Lawrence College in Bronxville, New York, Westchester County. Students must begin this program at Sarah Lawrence College, completing one year of course work in developmental theory and an observational fieldwork placement. Social work classes begin after the completion of this first year and can be taken at any campus.

The dual degree program will combine the theoretical knowledge bases of clinical social work and developmental psychology. Its goals include:

- to educate social work clinicians for advanced practice in the treatment of children;
- to develop social work clinicians with an in-depth understanding of the life of the child as the interaction of intellectual, emotional, social and imaginative streams;
- to provide an appropriate balance between academic study in the theoretical and empirical aspects of the child development/child treatment fields and direct practice with children;
- to prepare social work clinicians/child development experts to meet the diverse needs of at-risk children, particularly those in the urban setting.

MSW/MA in Health Advocacy
The School joins with Sarah Lawrence College to offer a dual degree in social work and health advocacy. Students in this program can pursue study leading to an MSW and an MA in health advocacy.

This dual degree will combine the theoretical knowledge bases of clinical social work and health advocacy. It will prepare graduates to be social workers and health advocates for clinical practice with patients and families in diverse health care settings. In addition, graduates will have in-depth knowledge of macro practice aimed at reducing structural barriers to health care, such as poverty and racism. Both programs emphasize the importance of understanding the impact of culture, race, and gender on the development of individuals and social systems.

By taking courses that are acceptable for transfer credit in each of the schools involved and through careful course planning, both degrees can be completed by three years of full-time study. The program can also be completed on a part-time basis. Completion of 97 credits, including 16 credits of supervised field work, is required for completion of both degrees.

Students must begin this program at Sarah Lawrence College finishing one year of course work in health advocacy; social work classes begin after this first year; a final year includes courses on both campuses.
Admission to both programs is required. All classes in health advocacy are held at Sarah Lawrence College in Bronxville, New York, in Westchester County. MSW classes can be taken at the Washington Square, Rockland, or Westchester campuses.

MSW/JD
The School and the School of Law sponsor a program in which a student may simultaneously pursue study leading to an MSW degree and a Juris Doctor (JD) degree. By taking courses that are acceptable for transfer credit in each of the schools involved and through careful course planning, the dual degree student can complete both degrees within a four-year period.

The School of Law requires 82 credits of study; however, 12 credits for courses taken at the School will be applied in satisfaction of requirements for the JD degree. Similarly, the MSW Program requires a minimum of 65 credits; however, 13 credits for courses taken at the School of Law will be applied toward the MSW degree. Instead of taking the required 147 credits for both degrees if done separately, with the crossover of credits from the schools, students will complete 123 credits for both degrees. Admission to both programs is required. Neither degree is conferred until the requirements for both degrees are fulfilled.

MSW/Executive MPA
The School and the Robert F. Wagner Graduate School of Public Service sponsor a program in which a student may simultaneously pursue study leading to an MSW degree and an Executive Master of Public Administration (MPA) degree. By taking courses that are acceptable for transfer credit in each of the schools and through careful course planning, the dual degree student can complete both degrees in two years, including two summers.

The MSW/Executive MPA program will enable students to complete their clinical social work training while also securing a master's degree from the Robert F. Wagner Graduate School of Public Service. Students have flexibility to take courses in both Wagner's Public and Nonprofit Management and Policy and Health Policy and Management programs. The combined course of study will incorporate the 10 courses required for the Executive MPA degree (36 credits), in addition to the 65 credits required for the MSW degree (16 courses and four semesters of field learning). Two electives taken at Wagner (6 credits) will be applied to the MSW degree. Three classes (12 credits) taken at the School will be applied to the Executive MPA degree. Neither degree is conferred until the requirements for both degrees are fulfilled.

MSW MPH
This interdisciplinary, three-year program with the NYU College of Global Public Health is for students who seek to combine social work and public health with a global focus. At completion of the program, students will have earned an MSW degree and a Master of Public Health (MPH) degree. Courses are taught by professors drawn from relevant programs across five schools at NYU, including the Silver School of Social Work; the Robert F. Wagner Graduate School of Public Service; the School of Medicine; the College of Dentistry (including the College of Nursing), and the Steinhardt School of Culture, Education and Human Development.

The dual degree is designed to provide the necessary skill set for graduating students to pursue professional careers in both social work and public health, and prepare them for leadership roles in community healthcare settings, government agencies, and non-profit organizations in the United States and internationally. Students in the MSW/MPH dual degree program would enroll as full-time students taking courses within each program concurrently. Neither degree is conferred until the requirements for both degrees are fulfilled.

MSW Curriculum

At the Generalized Practice level the curriculum is grounded in a generalist perspective which emphasizes the importance of working across a range of systems that includes individuals, couples, families, groups, agencies, and communities. The generalist perspective maintains a focus on the interaction between systems (person-in-environment perspective) and utilizes specific theories such as systems theory, empowerment theory, and a strengths perspective, including ego psychology. Students learn about and are expected to demonstrate the ability to carry out a range of social work roles, including but not limited to, case manager, advocate, mediator, and counselor.

The core curriculum places particular emphasis on knowledge of and identification with the social work profession, social work values and ethics, self-awareness, and a foundation for the development of culturally competent practice with diverse and at-risk populations. Students are also provided with a solid introduction to human development, direct practice with individuals, families, groups and communities, social welfare policy formulation, and social research. As many students in the Generalized Practice year are expected to engage in group work, Clinical Practice with Groups is required and builds upon the Human Behavior in the Social Environment and Social Work Practice Generalized Practice courses. The course provides students with in-depth knowledge and skills relevant to the various types of task and treatment oriented groups, and the theoretical formulations from which each is derived.

During the Generalist Practice year students undertake an integrated set of final assignments which focuses on demonstrating competencies in engagement, assessment, and practice with individuals, families, and communities, as well as a policy/service organization assessment and improvement project (formerly referred to as the POPS project). These assignments are designed to facilitate the integration of a generalist social work perspective with an improvement project conducted at the field learning site.

The Specialized Practice curriculum strives to deepen knowledge and skills and add breadth, depth and specificity to that which was learned in the generalized practice curriculum. Students are expected to deepen and extend their assessment, intervention, and evaluation skills with diverse and at-risk populations; demonstrate an understanding of the major theories that inform clinical practice with individuals and families including ego psychology, object relations theory, family systems theory, cognitive-behavioral theory, narrative theory, theories of change and other emergent theories; and demonstrate an understanding of the theoretical and empirical knowledge base of the biopsychosocial and cultural factors underlying the concepts of mental health and illness. The links between practice and research and practice and policy are integrated throughout the curriculum as is the attention to social and economic justice and the importance of practicing competently with diverse and at-risk populations.

Socialization to the profession also continues in the Specialized Practice year. Students are expected to consolidate their identification as a professional social worker, recognize and manage personal values in a way that allows professional values to guide practice, implement strategies for applying ethical principles to decision-making processes in practice, practice self-awareness and respect for its importance to the therapeutic process and demonstrate reflection, independence, and accountability for professional behavior, practice, and lifelong learning.

MSW Curriculum Content

The MSW curriculum consists of a Generalist Practice level and a Specialized Practice level. Because there is only one Specialized Practice—clinical social work practice—the generalized practice curriculum conveys the generalist perspective that is common to all areas of social work practice and prepares students for the Specialized Practice in clinical social work.

The MSW curriculum at both Generalized and Specialized Practice levels is organized according to five traditional areas: Social Work Practice, Human Behavior in the Social Environment, Social Welfare Programs and Policies, Social Work Research, and Field Instruction. In addition, each sequence area addresses issues such as social work values and ethics, diversity, social and economic justice, and populations at risk. The narratives below briefly describe the curriculum within each sequence area.

The Generalist Practice Level

The Generalist Practice content of the MSW Program must be completed before a student may go on to the Specialized Practice content. This course of study ensures that all students have understood and demonstrated competence in the professional base including 600 hours of field learning before going on to study the clinical practice specialty. The required Generalist Practice consists of the following core courses:

- Social Work Practice I and II
- Field Instruction I and II (Integrated Practice/Field Curriculum)
- Human Behavior in the Social Environment I and II (HBSE)
- Diversity, Racism, Oppression and Privilege
- Social Welfare Programs and Policies I
- Social Work Research I
- Clinical Practice with Groups

The order in which these courses are taken depends on the prerequisite system (e.g., HBSE I must precede HBSE II, and Practice courses must be taken concurrently with Field Instruction).

Generalist Practice – Social Work Practice

The Social Work Practice curriculum area has five required courses: at the Generalized Practice level Social Work Practice I and II and Clinical Practice with Groups; at the Specialized Practice level, Social Work Practice III and IV.

Integrated Social Work Practice/Field Curriculum I and II

In the Integrated Social Work Practice/Field Instruction I & II, the Practice Instructor is also the Field Faculty Advisor for all students except those in the OYR program. Students remain with the same Practice Instructor/Advisor for both semesters in the Generalized Practice year. Students wishing to change their class between the Fall and Spring semesters must obtain approval from the Chair of Practice and Assistant Dean for Field Learning. Social Work Practice/Field Instruction III & IV are integrated in the same manner for students in the Advanced Standing program.
The purpose of the Integrated Practice/Field Curriculum (Social Work Practice I and II and Field Instruction I and II) is to teach students the generalist perspective of social work practice which emphasizes the importance of working across a range of systems that includes individuals (adults, older adults, children and adolescents), couples, families, agencies and communities. This approach maintains a focus on the interaction between systems, also known as the person-in-environment perspective. It is expected that students will develop a broad approach to social work practice through the use of different modalities, an understanding of the choice and application of intervention approaches, and an understanding of the link between theory and practice skills.

The purpose of the Field Instruction course is to facilitate the development of the student as a professional social worker who can enter the practice arena in any setting of practice, be able to apply the knowledge and skills learned in the classroom, perform direct social work practice skills, and act according to social work ethics and values.

The integrated Social Work Practice I and Field Instruction I courses provide a generalist foundation and systemic framework that emphasize the inter-relatedness of clients, the environment, and society. Utilizing a systemic, biopsychosocial/cultural perspective, an understanding of the connection between client, agency and policy practice, and building upon resilience, empowerment, developmental, ego-psycho-sociological and organizational theories, students are taught to work with diverse clients in the urban environment and to apply critical thinking to inform and communicate professional judgments.

The integrated Social Work Practice II and Field Instruction II courses also build on the values, knowledge, skills and behaviors introduced in Integrated Social Work Practice I and Field Instruction I courses and help students better understand short-term, crisis and extended interventions models; self-evaluation and evaluation of practice approaches and models; agency and community practice; specialized practice skills with individuals and families; and the process of termination.

The integrated Practice and Field courses during the Generalized Practice year help students to understand, learn and behave appropriately in their professional social work roles; to engage with and comprehensively assess their clients (including individuals, families, groups and communities) in the field placement within the contexts of their social environments, agency functioning, and social programs and policies; and to promote, restore and enhance clients’ social functioning and as such become agent of change. Students are expected to utilize critical thinking to link social work theories with appropriate practice skills, to critically evaluate their work and the provision of agency services, and to familiarize themselves with research-informed practice.

The core concepts and skills that are introduced in the integrated Practice and Field courses during the Generalized Practice year will be further developed in the required and elective Practice and Field Instruction courses in the Specialized Practice year. In Field Instruction II students move from the beginning skill level attained in Field Instruction I to Generalist Practice competence based on creative use of knowledge, value commitments, conceptual ability, and practice skills within the context of their agency.
One Year Residency students (OYRS) have a slightly different Practice format whereby their Practice Instructor is also their academic advisor in the first year of the MSW Program. In the 16 Month and Advanced Standing Programs the Practice Instructor also serves as the student’s Faculty Advisor.

Generalist Practice – Final Assignments
During the Generalist Practice year students undertake an integrated set of final assignments which focuses on demonstrating competencies in engagement, assessment, and practice with individuals, families, and communities, as well as a policy/service organization assessment and improvement project (formerly referred to as the POPS project). These assignments are designed to facilitate the integration of a generalist social work perspective with an improvement project conducted at the field learning site.

Generalist Practice-Human Behavior in the Social Environment
Two core courses in the Human Behavior in the Social Environment (HBSE) generalized practice curriculum present the complex trajectories of human life development within the wide range of contexts in which the individual functions: families, socio-cultural groups, organizations, institutions and communities. Using the systems theory as a guide, these courses stress a non-linear view of development in which there is a continuous reciprocal interchange and mutual impact among different systems (individual, family, group, and community).

Human Behavior in the Social Environment I
Human Behavior in the Social Environment I (HBSE I) is centered on the biopsychosocial perspective, which stresses a multi-dimensional view of human development and behavior. This multi-dimensional view of person in the context of the environment takes into consideration the challenges, stressors and life tasks that occur throughout the life cycle. The individual in his/her environment is seen as a unit where component elements can only be understood in their relationship to each other. The course stresses the centrality of culture, race, ethnicity, gender and the socioeconomic environment.

Using systems theory as a critical theoretical underpinning, HBSE I stresses a non-linear view of development in which there is a continuous reciprocal interchange and mutual impact among different systems (individual, family, group, and community). A major focus of the course is on development of the human biological, psychological and social structure as it occurs throughout the life span. HBSE I covers the life cycle from birth to late childhood.

The course stresses the need for the development of critical thinking, an examination of the gaps in knowledge that exist in developmental theory, and the role that research plays in knowledge building. The linkages of theories to practice and policy implications are also stressed.

Human Behavior in the Social Environment II
Following HBSE I, the major focus of Human Behavior in the Social Environment II (HBSE II) is on the interaction of human biological, psychological and social structures as they develop from adolescence through later stages in life. The course is centered in the biopsychosocial perspective, which stresses a multi-dimensional view of human development and behavior. This multi-dimensional view of person in the context of the environment takes into consideration the challenges, stressors and life tasks that occur throughout the life cycle. The individual in his/her environment is seen as a unit where component elements can only be understood in their relationship to each other. The course stresses the centrality of culture, race, ethnicity, gender and the socioeconomic environment.

Using systems theory as a critical theoretical underpinning, HBSE II stresses a non-linear view of development in which there is a continuous reciprocal interchange and mutual impact among different systems (individual, family, group, and community). A major focus of the course is on development of the human biological, psychological and social structure as it occurs throughout the life span. HBSE II continues from early adolescence to old age.

The course stresses the need for the development of critical thinking, an examination of the gaps in knowledge that exist in developmental theory, and the role that research plays in knowledge building. The linkages of theories to practice and policy implications are also stressed.

Diversity, Racism, Oppression and Privilege
This course is designed to help social work students work more effectively with clients from diverse racial, ethnic and cultural backgrounds. It is premised on the idea that there are three distinct and equally essential components to developing cultural consciousness: awareness of self, of the client, and of systems of oppression and privilege that contribute to our own self-concept as well as our perceptions of others.

To address the first component, the course challenges students to engage in a deep exploration of their own cultural identities, values, and biases in a number of areas: childhood and family, race, social class, gender and sexual identity, as well as other cultures. A core concept of this class is that in order to minimize bias and maximize the capacity for empathy in the treatment of all clients, it is imperative that the practitioner engage in ongoing self-exploration.

Throughout the course, students will be asked to broaden and deepen their knowledge about and awareness of cultures and identities outside their own. The lectures and readings provide an introduction to a variety of cultures, with the understanding that the process of knowing any culture other than one’s own is a formidable undertaking far beyond the scope of any single course. The focus is therefore less on specific cultural traditions and norms, and more on cultivating skills that encourage the client to articulate their personal experience and definition of his/her own culture(s).

The third component to the course is an understanding of social identity formation on a macro level: the systems of privilege, marginalization, invisibility and oppression that become inextricably bound to an individual or group’s self-concept, as well as to the way the group is perceived by society. Concepts of intersectionality, social identity construction, and systemic oppression will be explored.

Finally, throughout the course, students will be introduced to clinical concepts that are central to the challenges of cross-cultural client work. Clinical examples will be used to illustrate these concepts. These concepts include but are not limited to: transference, countertransference, cultural countertransference, and intersubjectivity.

Generalist Practice-Social Welfare Programs and Policies
The Social Welfare sequence, Social Welfare Programs and Policies I (Generalized Practice level) and Advanced Policy (Specialized Practice level) courses, offers students the opportunity to gain insight and knowledge about how the social welfare institutions of our society have developed and function today. Students are taught the underlying values of social welfare institutions, the context in which they are developed, and how they affect social work practitioners. Additionally, students learn to critically evaluate social policies and to understand how to intervene at the organizational, community, and societal levels in order to promote social policies that are reflective of a just society and that target the most vulnerable and at-risk populations. A major goal of the policy sequence is to allow students to examine the direct relationship between social policies and social welfare institutions as they begin to integrate practice skills, knowledge about human development from a biopsychosocial perspective, and knowledge and skills in critically examining practice from an empirical perspective.

Social Welfare Programs and Policies I
The profession of social work has historically engaged in activities directed toward the promotion of a just society. In order to carry out this central function, social workers must be able to assess the systemic roots of inequality that promote social and economic injustice and understand the implications of institutionalized discrimination and oppression for individuals, families, and communities. Social workers practicing in the complex urban environments of today must be knowledgeable about ways in which globalization broadens the frame for viewing issues of social justice to a concern for oppressed populations worldwide. As major providers of social welfare benefits, social workers must also have an understanding of the organization and structure of the social welfare system and how social services are funded.

Social Welfare Programs and Policies I is a required course of the Generalist Practice year, and prepares students for concentrated study in a specific policy area in Advanced Social Policy taken in the Specialized Practice year. The course explores the interplay between values, political and economic structures and how these impact social welfare policy development, create or limit access and availability to social welfare services and benefits, and examines the nature of poverty in the United States. Emphasis is placed on social work practice in the urban environment to enhance understanding of the impact of social welfare policies on oppressed populations of historic concern to the profession like the poor, women, minorities, immigrant groups, as well as the mentally and physically disabled, the elderly, children and families, gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgender individuals.

Clinical Practice with Groups
The Clinical Practice with Groups course is a required Generalized Practice level course that students take in their spring semester. The course considers the importance of group factors on the macro and micro levels, as well as the increased need for and use of groups in a variety of agency settings. All students are required to take this course, which incorporates didactic and experiential teaching methods. The system and empowerment theories, strengths perspective, biopsychosocial assessment, goal setting and group intervention skills covered in the Practice I and II courses are elaborated upon and discussed in relation to one’s values, ethics and professional use of self in groups.

The overall objectives of the course are to help students develop an appreciation for the distinguishing features of group work and to provide them with the knowledge, skills and values essential to direct practice with groups in a variety of settings. A curriculum change enacted by the full-time faculty in the 2004-2005 academic year moved the Clinical Practice with Groups course from the Specialized Practice level to the Generalized Practice level. The change was made to accommodate many students leading groups in their first year placements and lacking the theoretical framework for running groups.

Generalist Practice-Social Work Research
The Research curriculum consists of two single-semester three credit courses: Social Work Research I (SWR I) in the Generalized Practice year and Social Work Research II (SWR II) in the Specialized Practice year. SWR I and II are designed to move students sequentially through all aspects of the research process, providing them with a logical progression of knowledge and skills regarding empirical research.

Social Work Research I
Grounded in an appreciation of the various paths to knowledge and the strengths and weaknesses of each, the temporary and ever-evolving nature of knowledge, and the implication of research methodologies for the hierarchy of evidence underlying assertions, this Generalized Practice course introduces students to the basic elements, concepts, methods, logic and issues of empirical research. The goal of the course is to prepare students to become more sophisticated and discerning users of and potential contributors to the social work knowledge base.

The Specialized Practice Level
As stated there is only one Specialized Practice at the School: clinical or direct social work practice. The Specialized Practice level includes required courses in Social Work Practice, Human Behavior in the Social Environment, Social Welfare Programs and Policies, and Social Work Research, as well as a 600 hour Field Instruction placement. Students also choose three elective courses in an area of their own interest from a wide array of offerings. Students may also choose three one-credit intensives in place of an elective. In addition, the Advanced Policy course is offered in sections specialized by fields of practice as well as in a generic version, offering those students who wish to do so another way to individualize their courses to their own specific interests. In the Specialized Practice year there are additional opportunities for students to choose from a variety of Focused Learning Opportunities. And finally, there is an opportunity for a limited number of students to enroll in a Research Project Seminar, which is a two semester, six-credit course that is taken instead of Research II.

- Social Work Practice III and IV
- Human Behavior in the Social Environment III
- Social Work Research II
- Advanced Social Policy
- Field Learning III and IV
- Electives (3) or 3 one-credit intensives and 2 electives

Social Work Practice III
Social Work Practice III builds upon the content provided in the Generalist Practice year and is based on social work values, ethics, practice models and principles, and person-in-environment perspectives. The overall goal of this course is to help students deepen and extend their assessment and intervention skills in work with individuals and families who face challenges with a range of problems commonly found in an urban environment, including mental illness, substance abuse, trauma, physical illness, disability, and poverty. Students are expected to demonstrate an understanding of the major theories that inform clinical practice with individuals and families including ego psychology, object relations, family systems theory, cognitive behavioral theory, narrative theory, theories of change, and other emergent theories.

The criteria for the differential use of practice methods are taught. Content related to diversity (e.g., racial, ethnic, class, religious, gender, age, sexual orientation, and disability) and oppression is integrated with an understanding of the concepts of power and privilege. Drawing on students’ case material and selected video presentations, the course applies individual and family interventive principles to selected client problems in the urban environment.

Social Work Practice IV

Social Work Practice IV is the last required Practice course offered in the final semester of the Specialized Practice level. The course objectives are three-fold: (1) to help students synthesize what has been learned in different sequences; (2) to consolidate their social work identity; and (3) to prepare them for termination from clients, their field work agency, the school, and their student status, and to enter the profession of social work.

The course begins with revisiting issues examined in Practice and Policy in the Generalized Practice year, namely, students’ motivation for seeking training at a graduate school of social work and the nature of this profession, including the distinctiveness of the social work profession with its dual commitment to direct practice and to affecting social justice in work with poor, diverse and oppressed populations. Students will engage in more intensive review of the Code of Ethics with readings and class presentations on ethical issues and dilemmas, and will engage in efforts to resolve them using guidelines for ethical decision making.

Direct practice with traumatized clients and the effects of secondary trauma, a common by-product, are also explored. The course examines current professional and practice issues in the urban environment, focusing on issues related to current health policies and managed care. Students discuss the supervisory process from the vantage point of both supervisor and supervisee. They are assisted in preparing for career planning and helped to identify the nature of various career paths in agency and private practice and are then introduced to the issues related to social work licensing in New York State. The course also addresses the nature of professional liability, standards, accountability, the importance of evidence-informed practice and methods of monitoring and evaluating practice, therapeutic boundaries, the problems of burn-out, avenues for renewal and professional growth, and ways of contributing to the profession. Throughout the course, emphasis is given to the transition and termination process from student to professional social worker, to the importance of and commitment to the students’ own professional growth, and the need to engage in career-long learning.

Human Behavior in the Social Environment

Human Behavior in the Social Environment III (HBSEIII) is designed to expand and deepen the theoretical and empirical knowledge base of the biopsychosocial factors underlying our concepts of mental health and illness. Students will be introduced to the multiaxial system of symptoms diagnosis and the methods and criteria used in making differential decisions about psychiatric diagnoses. They will be expected to be aware of the multiple problems that signal areas of concern regarding individual and family functioning and the centrality of culture, race, ethnicity, and gender in the diagnostic process. Each diagnostic category will include manifestations of the disorder as reflected in the life cycle.
The main diagnostic entities that will be explored include schizophrenia, other psychotic disorders, major mood disorders, anxiety and somatoform disorders, post-traumatic stress disorders, substance-related disorders, eating disorders, delirium, dementia, dissociative disorders and major personality disorders. The significance of labeling, stigma, and bias with regard to the diagnostic process will be critically appraised and critiqued throughout the course in keeping with the values and ethics of social work practice and issues of social justice. This course’s bibliography contains suggested further readings on childhood diagnostic components.

Advanced Policy
This Specialized Practice course examines urban social problems from the perspective of their impact on individuals, families, and communities, focusing on at-risk populations in the context of an urban environment. The course builds on the policy content offered in the Generalized Practice year and links policy to practice and research skills that have been developed. Emphasis is placed on the link between social and economic justice and issues relating to diversity. The first part of the course is an examination of the policy-making cycle, inclusive of social problem definition, policy formulation, implementation and critical analysis of policy. A detailed section on evaluation of policies as they affect societal structures, communities, agencies, clients and practitioners is then discussed. Finally, the course presents theories related to organizational change and strategies for practitioners to influence policies and promote change at the client level, the agency level, the community level and the broader society.

Research II
The overall goal of Research II is to provide students with an understanding of how research is used to evaluate social work practice and programs. The course is designed to provide students with an overview of the methods, concepts, and principles of practice and program evaluation research in order to become practitioners who can engage in self-directed evaluation of their own practice and to make meaningful contributions to program evaluation efforts.

The course focuses on what constitutes a “program”; identifying the mission, goals, and social work role within a program; understanding the implications of the organizational history and context of a program; the types and purposes of practice and program evaluation designs, measurement and data collection options, ethical and cultural considerations in the design and implementation of program and practice evaluation, anticipating the possibly diverse interests of various stakeholders in evaluation; and assessing whether a program can be evaluated.

Students are expected to apply previously acquired knowledge of the scientific approach and research methods to the evaluation of social work practice and programs. Emphasis will be placed upon extending research mindedness and critical thinking skills to the design, implementation, and assessment of evaluations of individual clients and programs.

Specialized Practice-Field Learning
Field Instruction III and IV build on the objectives achieved in the Generalist Practice integrated Practice/Field I and II courses. Students move from a generalist perspective to specialized clinical practice with complex individual, families, group and larger communities/organizational client systems. The courses strive to deepen knowledge and skills and further the level of mastery in direct practice with individuals, families, and groups. Finally, the purpose of Field Instruction III and IV is to facilitate the development of the student as a professional social worker who can enter the practice arena in any setting of practice, be able to apply the knowledge and skills learned in the classroom, perform direct social work practice skills, and act according to social work ethics and values.

During the Specialized Practice year, all students enrolled in Field Instruction are assigned to advisors who guide students in field matters. Contact is primarily on an individual basis, but may also occur in small group meetings. The Faculty Advisor serves as the school’s liaison to the field agency and works with the field instructor and the student to ensure the educational integrity of the field experience. In this role, Faculty Advisors monitor important aspects of the placement including assignments given to the student, the student/field instructor working relationship, and student progress in mastery of learning objectives for the course. The Faculty Advisor can assist with any challenges that arise in maintaining the educational integrity of the placement throughout the placement year.

Students are not allowed to progress into Specialized Practice placement without the completion of all Generalist Practice requirements. In addition, Field III must be taken concurrently with Social Work Practice III. Field IV must be taken concurrently with Social Work Practice IV. Should extended placement hours be required, a practice elective must be taken concurrently.
III. ADVISEMENT

Academic Advisors
Every student attending the School, including non-matriculated students, are assigned an academic advisor. Below please find a list of the MSW Programs and respective academic advisors. All students in field placement will have a Faculty Advisor as well as an academic advisor.

Students are encouraged to make an appointment to meet with their academic advisor as needed. In most cases, academic advisement is not mandated but students may wish to meet with their academic advisors to discuss issues such as:

- Academic plans
- Course selection and sequencing
- Course credit loads
- Leaves of absence
- Program change
- Cross school registration
- Referrals to School & University resources
- Concerns related to academic expectations

These are only some areas in which advisors can provide assistance. If you have any other academic questions or concerns please feel free to contact your advisor.

International Student Advisement
International students should consult with the Office of Global Services (OGS), which provides comprehensive support, advisory services, and programs for international students and their dependents. Because immigration laws and regulations change frequently, it is important to consult the OGS for the latest information.
Probation Advisement

Academic advisement is strongly encouraged when a student is admitted on probation. A student must meet the following criteria by the end of his/her probationary period:

- A 3.0 cumulative Grade Point Average (GPA)
- No F grades
- No W (Withdrawal) grades
- No Incomplete grades.

At the end of the probationary period, the student will either be removed from probation or academically dismissed. The student will be made aware of this outcome in a probation outcome memo. Any student on probation is encouraged to contact the Assistant Director for MSW Program Services for resources and guidance.
IV. ACADEMIC GUIDELINES

Degree Requirements
The MSW Program requires successful completion of the 65 credit curriculum. The curriculum is comprised of both classes and Field Instruction. To qualify for the MSW degree, the student must complete requirements with at least a 3.0 GPA.

Students have a total of 5 years from the point of matriculation to complete the MSW requirements. Students have the final responsibility for ensuring that all degree requirements are met. Students cannot enroll in additional courses after they complete the 65 credit curriculum. Consultation with the student’s academic advisor is highly recommended.

Requirements for Good Standing in the MSW Program
Students enrolled in the MSW Program are expected to maintain good academic standing, which includes the following criteria:

- A 3.0 grade point average (GPA): a GPA below a 3.0 will automatically place a student on probation.
- No Failing (F) grades: regardless of GPA, a student earning an “F” grade will be on probation automatically. A student who receives an “F” grade for a required course must repeat the course at his/her expense.

Additional requirements include the following:
- Students are responsible for the removal of Bursar, Health Services, and/or final official transcript blocks, which would impede registration.
- Registration for appropriate classes in proper sequence. Please see Curriculum Guide in the Appendix B.
- No student can move into the Specialized Practice year until all Generalized Practice level courses, including Field Instruction requirements (including hours and required assignments), are met.

Attendance
To receive credit for a course, a student must be in regular attendance and satisfactorily complete all examinations and other assignments prescribed by the instructor. Please note that as a matter of long-standing University policy members of any religious groups may, without penalty, absent themselves from classes when required in compliance with their religious obligations. Please visit the University Calendar Policy on Religious Holidays for more information.

Cross-School Registration
Students who wish to take elective courses at other schools within New York University and apply those credits toward their MSW degree must receive prior approval from their academic advisor by submitting a course description and syllabus. Upon receiving advisor approval, the student is responsible for contacting the appropriate offices at the other school to secure permission to register and complete the registration process. Finally, the student must complete the Cross-School Registration Form in Appendix H. The completion of this form does not constitute registration for the desired class.
Students who have already taken two non-social work electives must take their remaining elective(s) at the School. Language courses are not eligible for cross-school registration.

Independent Study

Students who wish to obtain permission to complete an independent study must be sponsored by a full-time faculty member. Students must then complete the MSW Independent Study Form in Appendix I. Both the student and sponsoring professor must sign the completed form. Once the completed form is received by the Office of Enrollment Services (located at 1WSN Room 102), the student will be registered for an independent study and charged for the appropriate amount of credits. Please allow up to two weeks for the credits to appear on your schedule and bill.

The first step for students seeking to do an Independent Study is to make an appointment with the Director of the MSW Program to discuss their proposal for the Independent Study.

Assignments

Instructors will inform students at the beginning of each semester about expectations for handing work in on time; the School's procedures for requesting extensions for late papers; and the consequences for not following the proper procedures according to the School's grading system.

Student Guide for Writing Papers

Below are some comments on format and style to help you write papers for your courses. Please consult the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association, 6th Edition (2010) for precise directions on style. This publication was adopted by the School as the style guide for all papers across all curriculum areas. You can purchase at the New York University Bookstore, 726 Broadway.

Writing the Paper

Before you begin to write, think and plan what you want to say. Asking yourself a series of questions is helpful. For example (a) What do you think the assignment asks for? (b) Why did you select that question to answer? (c) What do you think the professor expects as a response to this assignment? Some students find it helpful to complete an outline or preliminary remarks. Once you have completed a first draft it is sometimes helpful to put it away for several hours and return to it when your thinking is clear. At this point you may be better prepared to spot errors, omissions or the need to rewrite. In revising, scrutinize the content and structure of your paper. Ask yourself can the reader understand what I am saying? Are my thoughts clear, concise and informative?

If you note problems in your writing you may wish to consult the New York University Writing Center at 411 Lafayette Street, 4th Floor. This is a free service of the University for all students. You may call 212.998.8866 or visit http://www.nyu.edu/cas/ewp/html/writing_center.html for an appointment.

Format

All papers written by students in the School are required to cite references and to contain a bibliography. Although some written assignments for Practice courses, such as logs, may not require the same level of citation as papers prepared for other School courses, the rules of referencing still apply.

It is important to cite references for material taken or derived from other sources. Putting the material in your own words or changing a small part of it does not relieve you of the responsibility of identifying the source. This can be done either through direct quotation or by giving the source in the text of your paper.

Be sure that you have provided reference material or data to support the positions you take. Editorializing without documentation is unwise. When using case material in papers or class presentations, it is important to disguise names of clients to protect their identity. You can do this by changing the name or by using initials.

Appendix
Lengthy, supporting documentation (such as a case history or a questionnaire) belongs in the Appendix. The Appendix should include an introduction and headings for each part or sub-part. See APA Manual, Appendix, for specifics.

Preparing the paper
Papers should be typewritten, preferably double-spaced. Leave a margin of one inch on all sides. A cover page giving the title of the paper, your name and the name of your institution should precede the text. Please keep a copy of your work.

Guidelines for Grading Papers

Preface
The attached guidelines, adopted by the faculty, are the culmination of a lengthy process aimed at objectifying the basis for grading. The guidelines do not mandate a rigid formula for grading students but rather offer some guidance to faculty members in determining the various grade levels. Individual faculty members have discretion within the scheme of attributes presented to weigh factors differentially as they see fit. However, it is intended that each instructor has a clear contract with his/her class which would include the following components:

- Clarity on the way in which attributes included in the guidelines would be weighted.
- Clarity on the basis for demonstrating performance (in other words, what evidence will be utilized) in regard to attributes.
- Clarity on the process that will be used by the instructor for offering feedback on performance.

Guidelines for Course Grading

A
- Excellence in integrating conceptual learning with practice situations.
- Consistently superior performance in dealing with conceptual material.
- Excellence in written expression and scholarship.
- Evidence of self-direction in learning with substantial reading activity in depth and breadth.
- Resourceful, intelligent participation in class discussion. Might include leadership in class projects.
• Attributes would be similar to the above, but to a lesser degree.
• There might be somewhat more unevenness than in the “A” performance.

B+
• Performance on attributes would be somewhat above “B” level, but less than “A-” level.
• One might find more unevenness and more gaps than in an “A-” student in an otherwise good level of functioning.

B
• Expectations for graduate level work acceptable in terms of self-direction, reading activity dealing with conceptual material, integration of conceptual-practice dimensions of learning, class participation, oral and written expression.
• Stress would be on acceptable performance.

B-
• Barely acceptable performance in attributes described in “A” and “B” categories.
• Some area might be below expectation.
• The work has been done but there are a number of gaps and some superficiality in grasp of material.

C
• There is minimal grasp of concepts and minimal integration of conceptual and practice learning.
• Student might repeat some content areas on mechanical, rote basis but the student's understanding is unclear or questionable.
• The grade is "passing" but the student is considered marginal in important areas of learning.
• The gaps in learning are more extensive than in the case of a “B-” grade.
• The grade of “C” should serve to alert the student that his/her work is borderline and should improve.

F
• Work is unsatisfactory in most of the attributes considered and does not warrant receiving credit for the course.
• A student receiving an “F” grossly misunderstands course content and/or is deficient in its mastery.
• Failure to submit assignments or other required materials is clearly unacceptable.
• Non-matriculating students who receive an “F” grade are not eligible for future registration.

I (Incomplete)
• Grade given for incomplete course work due by a date the student and instructor agree upon (see Policy on Late Assignments and Incomplete Grades below).

N (No Grade)
• No grade or credit given because the student never attended the course.

NR (No Record)
• Grades not entered by the course instructor within 60 days from the grade due deadline will lapse to NR. NR grades can be later changed by class instructors using the standard grade change process. Courses with NR grades do not count toward earned credit and do not factor into the GPA, but do count as credits attempted and do impact academic progress evaluations used for financial aid eligibility. Students may not graduate with NR grades on their record without a formal documented exception approved by the Academic Dean.

Postscript Note
Other factors that might be utilized in distinguishing between a higher and lower grade would include:

• Student's progress during the semester in his/her own professional development reflected in course performance
• Extent of absences and/or lateness; excessive unacceptable absences and/or lateness would be taken into consideration.

The guidelines presented do not represent a perfect continuum in scaling attributes. Nor are the categories mutually exclusive. Yet they provide a point of departure for guiding School grading which may prove more reliable than otherwise.

Procedure for Appealing a Grade
A student who wishes to appeal a grade must first contact his/her professor. If an agreement is not reached the student may then contact the Chair of the curriculum area for consultation. The Chair may then consult with the professor separately or with the student concerning the grade. The final decision on the grade appeal will be made by the professor.

Policy on Late Assignments and Incomplete Grades
Students are expected to complete all course assignments on time. Instructors may establish a policy regarding the consequences of late assignments and make it known to students by including it in the course syllabus.

Incomplete Grades
Students who are unable to complete all of the assignments for a course by the time the course has ended must request an Incomplete (I) grade from the instructor by submitting an Incomplete Grade Form (See Appendix J). The form may be obtained from the Silver School’s website: http://socialwork.nyu.edu/content/dam/sssw/students/pdf/registrationincompleteform.pdf.

The instructor is under no obligation to grant a request for an I grade.
If the instructor agrees to grant an I grade, then students must prepare three copies of the form:

1. Keep one copy for their own records
2. Give one copy to their instructor
3. Submit one copy to their academic advisor (for WS: second floor MSW Program Office, or for offsite campus: coordinator of program)

If the instructor grants the request for an I grade, the student will receive a grade of “I.” If the student does not submit a request for an I grade or if the instructor denies the request, the student will receive a grade of “F” (Fail).

It is the obligation of the student who has received an I grade for a course to fulfill the requirements by the due date that was agreed upon with the instructor. The recommended time for the student to submit the required assignments is no more than six [6] weeks from the due date of the assignment.

Once the requirements are fulfilled, the instructor will issue a change of grade for the student. The recommended time for the instructor to submit grades is within four [4] weeks from the time the student submits the assignment. Grades will convert to F if the student does not submit the assignment by the agreed-upon date.

Students with any outstanding I grades (an I grade that isn’t resolved by the end of the next semester) will be blocked from registering for the next semester. Any student with an academic block is responsible for contacting the Assistant Director for MSW Program Services. At that point, the student’s education plan will be assessed and registration approval for the next term may be granted on a case-by-case basis. I grades are to be used infrequently and only for extraordinary circumstances.

Policy on Repetition of Courses
- Students must repeat a required course in which they receive a grade of “F” in order to receive credit for that course.
- Students can repeat any non-required course in which they receive a grade of “F” in order to receive credit for that course.
- In all cases, an original “F” grade continues to be included in the computation of the grade point average even if the course is repeated and passed successfully.
- Students may not repeat courses in which they receive a grade of “C” or better.
- Any international student who earns a grade of F in Social Work Practice I, II, III, or IV will be dismissed from the MSW Program. International students cannot enroll in any Social Work Practice course during the subsequent semester and will not be permitted to extend their I-20s to repeat the course during a later semester.

Withdrawal from Class
A student who is considering withdrawing from a class after the Add/Drop deadline should discuss this decision with the course professor. If, after consulting with the professor, the student decides to proceed with the withdrawal, he/she should contact his/her academic advisor to facilitate the withdrawal process. Students are subject to University policy and will be held responsible for related tuition and fees according to the Bursar’s Refund Schedule. A student who withdraws from a class cannot audit the class. He/she must take the course at another time at his/her own expense. No withdrawals may take place after the ninth week of classes.

Withdrawals and Refunds for One-Credit Intensives

Students must withdraw from a one-credit intensive a minimum of 48 hours prior to the day of the course (including weekends) in order to receive a refund. No refunds, partial or otherwise, will be granted after this period.

Students who decide to withdraw from a one-credit intensive after the 48 hour are subject to University policy and will be held responsible for related tuition and fees according to the Bursar’s Refund Schedule. Students can appeal to have tuition and fee charges dropped by submitting a Refund Appeal to the Refund Committee.

Guidelines for Student Leaves of Absence

Voluntary vs. Involuntary Leaves of Absence

Most leaves and withdrawals are voluntary. Involuntary leaves and withdrawals are used in cases of academic/performance dismissal and as an option in cases of danger to self, others or property.

Psychological Medical Leave of Absence

Criteria: Psychological medical leaves and/or withdrawals are warranted when students are: (a) psychologically unable to perform academically or live in the residence halls; (b) dangerous to themselves, others or property; or (c) in need of treatment that prevents their current or future continuation at the School.

1. Students schedule an evaluation interview with Counseling and Wellness Services (CWS) at the NYU Student Health Center.
2. If appropriate, a CWS clinician recommends a psychological medical leave (orally and in writing) to the Assistant Director for MSW Program Services and informs students (orally and in writing) of conditions for return from leave.
3. Students complete and sign a Student Leave of Absence Request Form (Appendix A) and submit it to the Assistant Director for MSW Program Services. A Student Leave of Absence Request Form may be completed by a School administrator when accompanied by student correspondence.
4. The Assistant Director for MSW Program Services will review all documentation and authorize the leave for the time period recommended by the CWS clinician.
5. The Assistant Director for MSW Program Services notifies the Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs. Copies of this notification are sent to the School’s Enrollment Services and Field Learning Offices. Course withdrawals are then processed.
6. The Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs notifies the University Registrar, Housing, and other pertinent offices.

Returning from Psychological Medical Leave of Absence

Students must notify the University at least 2 months prior to the start of classes. The limit for consecutive leaves of absence is one academic year (or 2 semesters). If students need to extend their leave, they must formally request an extension by repeating the original request procedure.
1. Students must fulfill certain conditions: (a) sufficient time away from the School; (b) a course of treatment the entire time away from the School; (c) a Certificate of Readiness to Return Form sent from the outside therapist to CWS; and (d) an evaluation with CWS.

2. Based on the fulfillment of these conditions, CWS makes a recommendation to the University Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs, the Assistant Director for MSW Program Services, and other pertinent offices that the student is approved to return.

3. The student will meet with the MSW Program Director and Assistant Deans of Field Learning & Community Partnerships and Student & Alumni Affairs to confirm that the student is prepared to return to classes and Field Instruction. If the student is allowed to return, the Assistant Director for MSW Program Services processes a return from leave of absence memo.

4. Students should then contact the Assistant Director for MSW Program Services and the School’s Office of Enrollment Services to make sure that they are cleared to register for the following semester.

PLEASE NOTE: Students must review the Leave of Absence: Student Guidelines section for additional policies and procedures.

Physical Medical Leave of Absence

Criteria: An illness may prevent students from participating in class. Depending on when students become ill and how quickly they recover, they may not be able to make up missed work; in this case, a physical medical leave of absence is recommended. The physical medical leave option requires approval from the NYU Student Health Center (SHC).

1. Students schedule an evaluation with an SHC clinician.

2. If appropriate, a SHC clinician recommends a physical medical leave (orally and in writing) to the Assistant Director for MSW Program Services and informs students (orally and in writing) of conditions for return from leave.

3. Students complete and sign a Student Leave of Absence Request Form (Appendix A) and submit it to the Assistant Director for MSW Program Services. A Student Leave of Absence Request Form may be completed by a School administrator when accompanied student correspondence.

4. The Assistant Director for MSW Program Services will review all documentation and authorize the leave for the time period recommended by the SHC clinician.

5. The Assistant Director for MSW Program Services notifies the Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs. Copies of this notification are sent to the School’s Enrollment Services and Field Learning Offices. Course withdrawals are then processed.

6. The Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs notifies the University Registrar, Housing, and other pertinent offices.

Returning from Physical Medical Leave of Absence

Students must notify the University at least 2 months prior to the start of classes. The limit for consecutive leaves of absence is one academic year (or 2 semesters). If students need to extend their leave, they must formally request an extension by repeating the original request procedure.

1. Students must schedule an evaluation with a SHC clinician.
2. If appropriate, a SHC clinician makes a recommendation to the University Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs, the Assistant Director for MSW Program Services, and other pertinent offices that the student is approved to return.

3. Students should then contact the Assistant Director for MSW Program Services and the School’s Office of Enrollment Services to make sure that they are cleared to register for the following semester.

PLEASE NOTE: Students must review the Leave of Absence: Student Guidelines section for additional policies and procedures.

Maintenance of Matriculation or Personal Leave of Absence

Students may be experiencing personal or family problems and may not be able to function at the School as a result. Depending on the nature of these issues, students may request Maintenance of Matriculation (MoM) or a personal leave of absence.

1. The student should speak to the Assistant Director for MSW Program Services when considering MoM or a personal leave of absence.

2. If the student decides to go on MoM or a personal leave of absence, he/she should submit a Student Leave Request Form to the Assistant Director for MSW Program Services. A Student Leave Request Form may be completed by a School administrator when accompanied by student correspondence.

3. The Assistant Director for MSW Program Services notifies the Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs. Copies of this notification are sent to the School’s Enrollment Services and Field Learning Offices. Course withdrawals are then processed.

4. The Office of Enrollment Services will register the student for MoM or personal leave of absence.

5. Students must follow the procedure for MoM or personal leave of absence for each semester of absence. Students are responsible for paying the MoM fee, which is determined by the NYU Office of the Bursar.

6. Refunds for course withdrawal will occur automatically if done within the University refund period as stipulated by the Office of the Bursar. Appeals to the standard refund policy can be made to the Refund Committee by emailing the Assistant Director for MSW Program Services.

Return from Maintenance of Matriculation or Personal Leave of Absence

Students must notify the University at least 2 months prior to the start of classes. The limit for consecutive leaves of absence is one academic year (or 2 semesters). If students need to extend their leave, they must formally request an extension by repeating the original request procedure.

1. The student must notify the Assistant Director for MSW Program Services that he/she plans to return.

2. The Assistant Director for MSW Program Services issues a return from MoM or personal leave of absence memo to Enrollment Services so the student can be term-activated.

PLEASE NOTE: Students must review the Leave of Absence: Student Guidelines section for additional policies and procedures.

Leave of Absence: Student Guidelines
☐ I understand that a leave of absence precludes me from taking courses at another academic institution.

☐ I understand that it is my responsibility to notify my instructors, faculty advisor, and field instructor that it is my intention to take a leave of absence.

☐ If I am not a United States citizen or permanent resident, I must contact the Office of Global Services and review the status and requirements pertaining to my matriculation while on leave of absence.

☐ I understand that my academic plan may be out of sequence and I must develop an academic plan with my academic advisor to complete all coursework. I understand that I am not guaranteed a Field Instruction placement and/or concurrent Social Work Practice course the semester immediately following my return from leave of absence.

☐ I understand that I am responsible for contacting 1) the University Financial Aid office to determine if I must take any action in relation to my loans or financial aid (212-998-4444 or www.nyu.edu/financial.aid) and 2) the Silver School’s Financial Aid office to determine if I must take any action in relation to my scholarship (212-998-5910 or silver.financialaid@nyu.edu). I am aware that a leave of absence does not exempt me from student loan repayments and that I am not entitled to loan funding while I am not taking classes. I must adhere to all deadlines for future financial aid applications. I understand that 100% of tuition and fee charges will be removed for the semester I initiate a physical or psychological medical leave of absence.

☐ If I live in a residence hall, I will contact the NYU Office of Residential Life and Housing Services regarding the change in my residential status as well as adhere to payment and registration deadlines should I petition to live in housing upon my return. I understand housing may not be guaranteed upon my return.

☐ I understand that it is my responsibility to contact the NYU Student Health Center and make appropriate arrangements regarding my student health insurance.

☐ I understand that I will not have access to NYU facilities (i.e. gym, dorms, library, classrooms, etc.) while I am on a leave of absence.

☐ I understand if I pursue Maintenance of Matriculation (MoM), I will be charged a MoM fee each semester and that I must follow the procedure for MoM each semester.

☐ If on a physical medical leave of absence, I must receive approval from the NYU Student Health Center before taking the leave as well as upon my return.

☐ If I am taking a psychological medical leave of absence, I must receive approval from the NYU Counseling and Wellness Center before taking the leave as well as upon my return. If I am an MSW student, I must meet with the MSW Program Director and Assistant Deans of Field Learning & Community Partnerships and Student & Alumni Affairs to receive approval for return.
As part of the process to return from leave of absence, I will notify my academic advisor at least two months prior to the start of classes to ensure time for proper planning for coursework, including Field Instruction.

Withdrawals from School

1. When students are considering withdrawal from the School, they should contact the Assistant Director for MSW Program Services to set up an exit interview. Students are required to turn in their University ID Card at the time of their exit interview.
2. Following the interview, students should submit an online withdrawal form via Albert.
3. Students who are in field placement and decide to withdraw also need to have a field exit interview with the Assistant Dean for Field Learning and Community Partnerships.
4. Students must contact and notify the Financial Aid Office if they have been receiving financial aid. Students should also consult the Refund Schedule for Complete Withdrawals.
5. Students may also contact the Office of Enrollment Services to obtain information with respect to grades, classes, and refunds policies.
6. When students leave the School, the Faculty Advisor should write a final summary of the student’s educational experience. Students will receive a copy of the final summary. A copy of this material should be sent to Office of Enrollment Services for inclusion in students’ folder.
7. When students withdraw from the School students have the responsibility of notifying the field and classroom instructors, as well as applicable University offices (housing, etc).
8. If students who have withdrawn from the school decide they would like to return, a new application for admissions must be initiated.

Readmission of Intermitted Students

Readmission to any of our programs is reviewed on a case-by-case basis. At minimum we reserve the right to require a full application to any of our programs after an absence of a year or longer for any reason.

Reaplication

Some applicants may wish to reapply to the MSW Program at the Silver School of Social Work at NYU. Please note that we strongly recommend waiting a minimum of one academic year.
V. ENROLLMENT, BILLING, AND REGISTRATION

Registration Important Dates
September 6, 2016: Fall 2016 classes begin.
September 19, 2016: Waitlists deadline.
September 19, 2016: End of the Fall 2016 add/drop period.

Please view the University Academic Calendar for more important dates.

Our registration system is online-only, so please familiarize yourself with the Albert Registration system, as you will be using it every semester. If you have any questions after reading the information below, please call the School’s Enrollment Services at 212-998-5910. If you have not already done so, please activate your NYU Home account at http://start.nyu.edu.

To complete your registration
1. Consult the Curriculum Guide to get a list of courses you should be taking in the upcoming semester. If you have questions about taking courses out of sequence, please contact your academic advisor.
2. Once you know the courses you will be taking, you can look up times and days they are offered on Albert, which is accessible through NYUHome.
3. Once you have logged into your Student Center in Albert, use the "SEARCH FOR CLASSES" function to find available courses.
4. Look for and record the CLASS # listed for the courses you want to add on the COURSE SEARCH page. You will need to enter these to register when you are on the Enroll screen.
5. Once you register for classes your schedule should appear under the Academics heading in your Student Center in Albert.

You may wish to use the Albert Training Guide to walk you through the registration process.

Remember:
• If you are closed out of your first-choice section of a course, the most important thing to do is immediately sign up for an open section that you can attend. Waitlists are processed automatically once students officially drop the class, so keep checking back on Albert to determine your status.
• Practice I and Practice II are consecutive semesters of the same class. This means that you will be enrolled in Practice II automatically, and will have the same professor and class time for Practice II as you had for Practice I.
• If you are registering for Practice you also need to register for the corresponding co-requisite of Field Instruction. Please see sample curricula in Appendix B.
Waitlist Procedures

- Should your first choice section be closed, you must register for an alternate section of that same course to ensure yourself a seat.
- If your first choice section has an active waitlist, you can place yourself on the waitlist by using the SWAP function. The SWAP ensures that the alternate section is not dropped until you are successfully enrolled into your first choice section. To use the SWAP function, click on the SWAP tab and select the section that can be dropped. Then enter the Class Number of the first choice section, select the Wait List checkbox, and Finish Swapping.
- The system will only enroll you for courses within your credit limit. The system will not enroll you if there are registration holds on your account or if there is a meeting pattern conflict with another class in which you are currently enrolled. You must also meet requisites for the course. Please see the Albert Training Guide for additional information.
- If you are trying to enroll and waitlist in different sections of the same course without using the SWAP functionality then the system will automatically drop you from your waitlisted section when you enroll yourself into the available alternate section.
- Registering through the waitlist is an automatic procedure. This means that Albert will roll the next person on the waitlist into the class if and only if an enrolled student drops out.
- Students may only attend classes in which they are officially enrolled.
- Permission to enroll in a closed course cannot be granted by professors.
- If you do not register correctly, you may find yourself without a seat in a required class.

Official Transcripts Block

A final official transcript from all previous higher education institutions attended is required for full admittance to the MSW Program. For those students who are provisionally admitted pending the submission of all final official transcripts, all transcripts must be received by October 15th for fall admits or by March 1st for spring admits. Students who do not have all official transcripts submitted by this date will have a block placed on their account which will prevent them from registering for the upcoming term. Once the official transcripts have been received by the Admissions Office, the block will be removed. No exceptions will be made.

Transfer Students and Transferring Credits

How to Transfer Credits

Students may transfer up to 12 credits of coursework completed at a CSWE accredited program of social work or related graduate program. These courses must have been taken within the past five years and completed with a grade of ‘B’ or higher. Social work Field Instruction or practice courses may not be transferred, and course content must be equivalent to the Silver School curriculum. In order to apply for transfer credits, students must submit the official transcript, course syllabus, and reading list to the Admissions Office six weeks before the semester begins.

Please see Appendix K for the Advanced and Waiver Credit Application
Billing and Payment
Students receive bills electronically from the Office of the Bursar and may pay online or in person at 25 West 4th Street.

Refunds

Refund schedule for course withdrawals
- Courses dropped during the first two weeks of the semester entitle the student to a 100% refund of tuition and fees
- No refund is given for courses dropped after the first two weeks of the semester

Refund schedule for complete withdrawals
- Classes dropped before the first day of class entitle the student to a 100% refund of tuition and fees
- Classes dropped after the first day of class but within the first week entitle the student to 100% refund of tuition only
- Classes dropped during the second week of classes entitle the student to a 70% refund of tuition only
- Classes dropped during the third week of classes entitle the student to a 55% refund of tuition only
- Classes dropped during the fourth week of classes entitle the student to a 25% refund of tuition only
- No refund is given for classes dropped after the fourth week of classes

Please see the Refund Schedule for Course Withdrawals and the Refund Schedule for Complete Withdrawals for the 2016-2017 academic year for more information.

Students who seek refunds for medical issues outside the time period specified by the refund schedule may submit an appeal to the Refund Committee silver.msw@nyu.edu. Students are expected to provide documentation to support all refund appeals.

One-Credit Intensive Drop/Withdrawal and Refund Policy

Students must drop their one-credit intensive a minimum of 48 hours prior to the day of the course (including weekends) in order to receive a refund. No refunds, partial or otherwise, will be granted after this period. Any student dropping a one-credit intensive on the first day of class or thereafter will be issued a grade of “W” which stands for Withdrawal. Students are expected to attend all 9 hours of a one credit intensive. Unless there is an extreme circumstance, a student who is not present for all 9 hours cannot receive a passing grade.
VI. FIELD LEARNING

Field learning is an integral component of social work education anchored in the Silver School of Social Work’s mission, goals and educational program. Field learning is one of the five key curriculum areas. Field learning takes place in agency settings, selected by the School, that reinforce students’ identification with the purposes, values, and ethics of the social work profession.

Field Learning Curriculum
The purpose of the field learning curriculum is to facilitate the development of a professional social worker who can enter the practice arena in any setting of practice and be able to apply the profession’s knowledge base, perform direct social work practice skills and act according to social work ethics and values. Thus, learning in the field setting is an integral component of the student’s social work education and lies at the core of the student’s professional development. At the agency placement, the student will have the opportunity to integrate theory and practice, and as such, connect the theoretical and conceptual contributions of the classroom with the world of practice.

Generalist Practice Curriculum
The Practice/Field Curriculum (Social Work Practice I and II and Field Instruction I and II) courses are integrated; the Practice I and II Instructors serve as their students’ Faculty Advisor. Students remain with the same Practice Instructor/Faculty Advisor for both semesters in the Generalized Practice year. Students wishing to change their Practice/Field class between the Fall and Spring semesters must first obtain approval from the Chair of the Practice Department as well as the Assistant Dean of Field Learning.

The purpose of the Integrated Practice/Field Curriculum (Social Work Practice I and II and Field Instruction I and II) is to teach students the generalist perspective of social work practice which emphasizes the importance of working across a range of systems that includes individuals (adults, older adults, children and adolescents), couples, families, agencies and communities. This approach maintains a focus on the interaction between systems, also known as the person-in-environment perspective. It is expected that students will develop a broad approach to social work practice through the use of different modalities, an understanding of the choice and application of intervention approaches, and an understanding of the link between theory and practice skills.

Specialized Practice Curriculum
Field Instruction III builds on the objectives achieved in the Field Instruction courses in the Generalized Practice year. Students move from a generalist perspective to advanced clinical practice with complex individual, family, group and larger community/organizational client systems. (See syllabus for Field Instruction III).

Field Instruction IV builds on the objectives achieved in Field Instruction III. Students move to increasingly complex advanced clinical practice with individual, family, group and larger community/organizational client systems, developing as professional social work leaders and change agents. In addition, students demonstrate accountability for lifelong learning and professional development. (See syllabus for Field Instruction IV).

Field Learning - The “Open Classroom”

Field learning is organized by four consecutive courses: Field Instruction I, II, III and IV. The Generalized Practice year Field Instruction courses are integrated with Practice I and II. In the Specialized Practice year, the students take Field Instruction III and IV. In contrast to the formal classroom at the school, field learning takes place in the “open class room” – in the agency setting. The field learning curriculum is outlined in the respective syllabi and facilitates the student’s ability to implement social work values, knowledge, and skills to inform professional behaviors in the practice of social work.

Field learning is a course. As in any course there is a grade. Grades for Field Instruction are “Pass” or “Fail.” A student achieves a grade of “Pass” by meeting all the required competencies outlined in this manual specific to the program year; by adhering to the National Association of Social Workers’ Code of Ethics; by participating in faculty advisement and by demonstrating the Essential Abilities and Attributes for Performance in the School of Social Work.

Field Learning’s Goals and Objectives

The goals and objectives of the field learning curriculum prepare the students to demonstrate core competencies in social work practice. Core competencies are developed over four semesters of field learning: Field Instruction I (MSWFD-GS.2100), II (MSWFD-GS.2200), III (MSWFD-GS.2300), and IV (MSWFD-GS.2400).

Expectations for Successful Completion of the Field Instruction Course: Evaluation and Grading

The grades for Field Instruction (Pass, Fail, Incomplete) are given at the end of each semester. The Field Instruction course grade is given by the Faculty Advisor and is based on the student’s professional conduct and full participation in Field Learning at the agency placement, submission of process recordings, project assignments, reflective recordings, participation in individual meetings with the Faculty Advisor, as well as the Initial Educational Statement, Mid-Year Evaluation and Final Evaluation completed by the field instructor. The Faculty Advisor is the course instructor and is responsible for the grade.

Initial Educational Statement

The Initial Educational Statement is completed by the field instructor after the first 6 weeks of the placement, shared with the student, and signed by both. The signed statement is emailed to silver.fieldlearning@nyu.edu, faxed, or hand-delivered; the Field Learning office then forwards it to the Faculty Advisor. The statement offers an early indicator of learning objectives specific to the agency, a learning plan including practice tasks related to the learning objectives, and student performance in the placement setting.

Mid-Year Evaluation

A Mid-Year Evaluation is completed at the end of the first semester of either the Generalized Practice Year or the Specialized Practice Year and after the student has finished the 300 hours required for Field Instruction. This online evaluation is completed and submitted by the field instructor; the student then receives it via email and indicates electronically that it was reviewed; and finally the Faculty Advisor receives it via email. The Faculty Advisor reviews the Mid-Year Evaluation as a major component of the process of assigning a grade for Field Instruction. (The Faculty Advisor will not be able to give a grade without a completed evaluation).

Final Evaluation

The Final Evaluation is completed at the end of the second semester of either the Generalized or Specialized Practice placement, after the student has finished the 300 hours required for Field Instruction (and a total of 600 hours for each of the Generalized and Specialized Practice placements). This online evaluation is completed and submitted by the field instructor; the student then receives it via email and indicates electronically that it was reviewed; and finally the Faculty Advisor receives it via email. The Faculty Advisor reviews the Final Evaluation as a major component of the process of assigning a grade for Field Instruction II or IV. (The Faculty Advisor will not be able to give a grade without a completed evaluation).

Attendance at the Field Learning Site – The Agency Setting

Students are expected to be in the agency for a total of 1200 hours over the course of the Generalized and Specialized Practice years and as per agency requirements (schedule to be worked out with the field instructor at the beginning of each semester with final approval of the Faculty Advisor). Students may not work more than 7 hours per day, or more than 28 hours per week. If a student is out of placement for jury duty or religious observance, the time must be made up. In the event of inclement weather, students should check with their agency/field instructor to see if they are operating on a normal schedule, and should use their own discretion on whether it is safe to travel.

NOTE: Students are expected to contact both the field instructor and the Faculty Advisor immediately (via e-mail or phone) if, for some reason, they are not able to be in attendance at their agency.

If a student is absent for more than three days during the academic year, the time must be made up. Arrangement for making up such missed time must be worked out with the field instructor and the Faculty Advisor and approved by the Assistant Dean of Field Learning. (Please refer to the Required Hours Form in Appendix C of this Manual, and posted on NYU Classes). In case the student has not completed the required hours at the end of the semester, or has not fulfilled all the requirements for Field Instruction, the student must request an I (Incomplete grade) and should follow the procedure outlined in this manual.

Should a student leave school, either voluntarily or by request, a Final Evaluation should be submitted by the field instructor. The Faculty Advisor will then write a final summary for the student record.

Guidelines for Process Recordings

1. Process recordings are a teaching, learning, and assessment tool used for examination of the student’s practice and should be utilized as one of the primary tools in Field Instruction. Process recordings should be written in a verbatim format. The format of the process recording varies given the nature and task of the assignment the student is given. In direct practice with individuals, groups or families, the recording reflects the interactional process between student and client(s) and should include any important content of the interview or contact. In addition, the recording should include the student’s feelings and impressions about the interview. The “drama script” format that only reproduces dialogue is not acceptable as a process recording. (Refer to Appendix D, the Process Recording Outline, and Appendix F for a sample of a process recording). In indirect practice (micro, mezzo, and macro practice in organizations), the recording reflects the student’s work on assignments across systems. A field instructor and student may also choose to use a reflective log in situations where the student can benefit from reflection upon an experience or critical incident in the field learning setting. (Refer to Appendix E).

2. Full-time Generalist Practice students are required to submit a minimum of two process recordings (but no more than three) and one reflective log per week. 32-Month and Extended-15 hour students should submit two process recordings with the option of one reflective log where the student can benefit from reflection upon an experience or critical incident in the field learning setting. Specialized Practice students should submit at least two verbatim process recordings (but no more than three) and one reflective log per week in the third semester. During the fourth semester, Specialized Practice students are expected to complete at least one verbatim process recording and one reflective log each week.

3. Students are expected to submit their process recordings in advance of their scheduled Field Instruction to allow adequate time for the field instructor to read the material prior to the conference.

4. Confidentiality should be observed by the field instructor and the student with respect to the use of process recordings. If process recordings are viewed outside of the agency, all identifying data relevant to the client(s) must be removed or coded.

Structure and Function of Field Learning and Community Partnerships

Field Learning, under the direction of the Assistant Dean of Field Learning and Community Partnerships together with the Clinical Faculty, is charged with planning, implementing and evaluating the school’s field learning curriculum. Field Learning is responsible for assessing all potential and continuing agencies and working with them to plan for the educational programs in a mutually beneficial way.

Field Learning Faculty

Faculty in the Field Learning office oversee field placements for each of the students placed with the School’s community partners according to Silver School of Social Work Fields of Practice. The Faculty matches the student to a field learning site based on the student’s academic program, professional interest, past experience, requirements of the field learning site, and where the student lives in relation to the field learning site. For the Specialized Practice placement, the clinical faculty also consults with the student’s classroom instructors and Faculty Advisor to make the best possible match.

Faculty Advisor

The Social Work Practice I and II Instructor serves as the Faculty Advisor in the Generalist Practice year. For Specialized Practice students, a Faculty Advisor is assigned at the beginning of the academic year. The advisor, who is employed by the Silver School of Social Work, oversees the student’s progress in field, and assists the student, the field instructor, and the field learning site to meet the educational goals and objectives established for the student’s field learning. The Faculty Advisor, in the capacity of educational consultant, assists the student and the field instructor in the development of an educational plan, identifying and accessing educational resources as well as facilitating the integration of the curriculum content with social work practice in the field. The Faculty Advisor is responsible for assigning the grade for the semester. Faculty Advisors, either full-time faculty or adjunct faculty, are master- and doctoral-level social workers who have extensive experience working in the field, and most have themselves been field instructors.

The Faculty Advisor and the Generalist Practice Year Student

The Integrated Social Work Practice I and II and Field Instruction I and II courses are taught by the Practice Instructor/Faculty Advisor. Students remain with the same Practice Instructor/Faculty Advisor for both semesters in the Generalized Practice year. Students wishing to change their Practice/Field class between the Fall and Spring semesters must first obtain approval from the Chair of the Practice Department as well as the Assistant Dean of Field Learning.

The purpose of the Social Work Practice I and II Courses is to teach students the generalist perspective of social work practice which emphasizes the importance of working across a range of systems that includes individuals (adults, children and adolescents), couples, families, agencies and communities. This approach maintains a focus on the interaction between systems, also known as the person-in-environment perspective. It is expected that students will develop a broad approach to social work practice through the use of different modalities, an understanding of the choice and application of intervention's approaches, and an understanding of the link between theory and practice skills.

The purpose of the Field Instruction I and II Courses is to facilitate the development of the student as a professional social worker who can enter the practice arena in any setting of practice, be able to apply the knowledge and skills learned in the classroom, perform direct social work practice skills, and act according to social work ethics and values.

The Classroom Practice/Field Instruction course meets for 2¾ hours each week to permit the integration of skill-building exercises with course content. Instructors will use several modalities including lecture, discussion, small group work, exercises, and viewing videos or DVDs in order to integrate social work practice with theory, and to help students develop skills for professional practice. During the skill-building component of the course, students will have ample opportunity to practice, observe and refine the skills necessary for social work practice. The Field Instruction course is comprised of four aspects: classroom participation focusing on field assignment, professional conduct, participation in faculty advisement and in field placement. In addition to the classroom participation, students are required to complete 300 hours in field learning during the semester. Students are placed in a field learning site by the Field Learning Office. At the field learning site students will receive Field Instruction from their primary field instructor (supervisor) who will assign students to work with individuals, groups, families or larger organizations in both direct and indirect practice. The task of field learning is to facilitate the student’s ability to implement social work values, knowledge, and skills to inform professional behaviors in the practice of social work with individuals, families, groups, and/or larger systems.

The Faculty Advisor has the overall responsibility to assist each student in the assessment of his/her field learning needs and in the development of his/her professional self. In addition, the Faculty Advisor serves as the School’s liaison with the agencies where students are placed.
The Faculty Advisor and the Specialized Practice Student

During the Specialized Practice year, all students enrolled in Field Instruction are assigned to advisors who guide students in field matters. Contact is primarily on an individual basis, but may also occur in small group meetings and seminars. Specialized Practice advisors are assigned at the beginning of the academic year and serve as a guide and resource for students. Faculty Advisors meet with each student individually at least once each semester to establish the learning goals and objectives, and assist the student with professional and career development. The Faculty Advisor is available for additional individual conferences upon request. The Faculty Advisor reviews the Initial Educational Statement and the Mid-Year and Final Evaluations and gives the Field Learning grade at the end of each semester. The Faculty Advisor is familiar with the agency and the student’s assignments, initiates early telephone contact with the field instructor, and visits the agency as needed during the academic year to consult with the student and field instructor. (Refer to the syllabus for Field Instruction III and Field Instruction IV).

The Faculty Advisor and the Advanced Standing Student

To facilitate the transition of BS/BSW graduates to the Specialized Practice, advanced standing program, students at the Washington Square campus enroll in an enhanced section of the required practice course, Social Work Practice III. The instructors who teach these sections serve as their students’ Faculty Advisor. The advisor meets individually with students as needed and performs the other advisement duties described above. At the Rockland and Westchester campuses, intensive advisement is provided to advanced standing students.

The Field Instructor

Field Instructors are an integral part of the student’s learning community. Field Instructors are usually employed by the agency in which the student will do their field learning. The agency has a formal agreement with our school to have student(s) as social work interns. Field Instructors have at least three years of post-master’s experience and have successfully completed a Seminar in Field Instruction (SIFI). Field Instructors commit to carrying out the learning goals set forth by Silver School’s curriculum guidelines.

Selection of Field Instructor and Qualifications

In order to be eligible to provide Field Instruction, a social worker must meet all of the following criteria: 1) Graduate from an accredited MSW Program, 2) Have at least three years of professional, post Masters experience as a social worker in an agency, or have special approval by the Field Learning Office, 3) Have SIFI (Seminar in Field Instruction) certification (please see below), and 4) Obtain appropriate licensure for the scope of social work practice for which Field Instruction will be provided (LMSW or LCSW). For complete information on scope of practice for LMSW and LCSW visit the Website for the Office of the Professions at: http://www.op.nysed.gov/prof/sw/.

Field Instructor Responsibilities

It is expected that the field instructor will provide the following:

- During the first week the student should receive orientation to the field learning site. The orientation should include (but is not limited to) the following: Agency mission, population served, the scope of practice, agency theoretical framework, modalities used, meeting schedule, documentation requirements, agency policies around the use of social media and electronic communications, phones, safety policy and procedures, Field Instruction schedule, sign in and out procedures, and dress code. The Field Instructor and student should utilize this checklist to accomplish these tasks.

- Formulate a beginning assessment of appropriate assignments relative to the learning style, cognitive and emotional level of functioning of the student
- Provide appropriate constructive feedback to the student through supervisory conferences and initial, Mid-Year and Final Evaluations
- Employ an array of teaching methods and techniques tailored to the specific needs of the student
- Demonstrate an ability to meet the administrative tasks inherent in Field Instruction, including but not limited to reading and reviewing process recordings, writing accurate and appropriate evaluations in a timely manner according to school standards
- Read, review and provide feedback to students on process recordings:

  1. At least two process recordings (but no more than three) and one reflective log per week for Generalist Practice students.
2. At least two verbatim process recordings (but no more than three) and one reflective log per week for Specialized Practice students, first semester.
3. At least one verbatim process recording and one reflective log each week for Specialized Practice students, second semester.

- Teach skills necessary for students to become competent and ethical social work practitioners
- Form a partnership with the Faculty Advisor and the school and be able to train students in a way that is compatible with the ethics, values and orientation of the school.

Qualifications and Requirements for Field Instructors (Developed and Endorsed by Greater New York Area Directors of Field Education)
Field Instructors are expected to possess and model to their students certain abilities and attributes in addition to meeting basic eligibility requirements for supervising graduate level MSW students. These qualities and attributes include cognitive, emotional and character requirements and standards.

Professional Commitment
Field Instructors have a strong commitment to the goals of social work, to the ethical standards of the profession and to imparting them to their students. Field Instructors are committed to the essential values of social work which are the dignity and worth of every individual and his/her right to a just share of society’s resources.

Knowledge Base for Social Work Practice
The professional activities of Field Instructors are grounded in relevant social, behavioral, and biological science, knowledge and research. This includes knowledge and skills in relationship-building, data-gathering, assessment, interventions, and evaluation of practice. Field Instructors exhibit sufficient knowledge of social work and clarity of thinking to process information and apply it to appropriate situations in Field Instruction and in practice.

Professional Behavior
Field Instructors adhere to the NASW Code of Ethics. They must exhibit behaviors that are in compliance with agency and university policies, professional standards, and societal laws in the field and the community. They demonstrate responsible and accountable behavior by knowing and practicing within the scope of social work, respecting others, prioritizing responsibilities, observing deadlines, maintaining boundaries, completing assignments on time, and completing the Seminar in Field Instruction. Field Instructors provide weekly individual Field Instruction to students according to the guidelines provided by the school. They should collaborate effectively with students, Faculty Advisors and other representatives of the Field Instruction Department, and use proper channels for conflict resolution.

Acceptance of Diversity
Field Instructors maintain an open dialogue with their students around the acceptance and appreciation of human diversity. S/he serves in an appropriate manner all persons in need of assistance, regardless of the person’s age, class, race, ethnicity, religious affiliation (or lack thereof), gender, ability, sexual orientation, and value system. The field instructor is prepared to engage the student in recognizing and working through the inherent issues around diversity.
Self-Awareness
Field Instructors understand how their values, beliefs, attitudes, emotions, and past experiences affect their thinking, behavior and relationships. They show awareness of self and how one is perceived by others and exercise sound judgment. Field Instructors are willing to examine their transference and counter-transference, and examine how their behavior may interfere with working with students, clients, and other professionals. Field Instructors are sufficiently objective to systematically evaluate students and their situations in an unbiased, factual manner. They demonstrate openness to constructive feedback from students, school and others, and actively participate in evaluating their teaching methods.

Communication Skills
Field Instructors communicate effectively and sensitively with students, colleagues, and other professionals. They express their ideas and feelings clearly and demonstrate a willingness and ability to listen to others. They have sufficient skills to adequately complete the SIFI requirements and documents relevant to the students’ education (i.e., evaluations, process recordings, Educational Agreements).

Interpersonal Skills
Field Instructors model and teach the interpersonal skills needed to relate effectively to students, colleagues, faculty, staff, clients and other professionals. Field Instructors exhibit compassion, integrity, and demonstrate respect for and consideration of others.

Empathy
Field Instructors seek to understand another individual’s perspective and life experience. They are able to convey this empathy and support to the student as a basis for a positive learning experience.

Seminar in Field Instruction (SIFI)
Social workers who are not SIFI-certified are required to enroll in the SIFI as part of their training and professional development in Field Instruction. The SIFI is required for all social workers in the New York City Metropolitan area. SIFI is a 13-session (26 hours) course taught at the school that provides training for new Field Instructors, endowing them with the skills necessary to effectively meet the educational responsibilities in their new supervisory role and will focus on developing competencies in the areas required of all Field Instructors listed above. SIFI is offered twice a year, September and January. (Refer to the website for information about registration and benefits for NYU Silver School of Social Work Field Instructors).

Annual Orientation for Field Instructors
At the beginning of each academic year, all Field Instructors new to the Silver School are invited to an orientation. At this meeting Field Instructors are provided with information about the Silver School’s mission and program objectives as well as a description of the required courses. Field Instructors may also find this information on the school’s website.

Continuing Education for Field Instructors
For continuing education of Field Instructors the Silver School offers opportunities for further training and collaboration such as short-term seminars, workshops and webinars on specific areas of interest. At the end of each academic year, Field Instructors are also invited to the Annual Appreciation Breakfast where Field Instructors are celebrated and honored for their dedication to social work education, and a keynote speaker discusses an emergent issue in Field Education.

Collaboration with our Community Partners
The Silver School is committed to the education of its students in collaboration with community partners, the field learning sites. The selection of field learning sites, the agencies, for field learning is an important component of the Silver School’s overall educational planning. The Field Learning office carries out the responsibility for determining the suitability of an agency for student education and works closely with interested agencies and Field Instructors in this process.

Selection and Approval of Agencies for Field Learning
Potential agencies are identified in a number of ways. Field learning faculty will reach out to agencies and inquire about their interest in partnering with us in social work education. Agencies may request students, or a student, faculty member, alumnus, or community representative may suggest the agency. After verifying the presence of appropriate assignments and the availability of a qualified field instructor, the Field Learning office will email a letter acknowledging interest along with several forms for the agency to fill out (forms can be found on our website). After the agency completes and returns the material to the Silver School, the agency will be assigned to the Faculty in the Field office responsible for the field of practice to which the agency belongs (see list below). The responsible faculty member will assess the function and services at the agency, possible student assignments, and availability of resources for the students, level of practice competence of the field instructor, and special requirements for student placement. The faculty member will also discuss the school’s learning objectives for field education and the school’s requirements for assignment, Field Instruction and evaluations of the student’s learning. Important to the selection of the agency is its ability to provide a learning context in which respect for all persons, and understanding of and respect for diversity are practiced, and there is regard for the social work profession’s fundamental tenets as per the NASW code of ethics. If the agency is accepted to serve as a Silver School field placement site, a student will be matched with the agency. If the field instructor has not attended a seminar in Field Instruction, he/she will be invited to one of the seminars offered at the school.

Ongoing Evaluation of Agencies’ Effectiveness in Providing Field Education
In addition to the initial assessment conducted by the Faculty in Field Learning, students fill out an online course evaluation for all Field Instruction courses on par with all other academic courses, which asks specifically about the educational experience at the agency in which the student was placed.

Fields of Practice
Field Learning is organized along fields of practice. In the Generalized Practice year, a member of the Faculty in the Field Learning office assigns the student to an agency, based on the student’s program, past experience, requirement of the field learning site, and where they live. In the Specialized Practice year, it is possible for the student to concentrate his or her graduate education on specific aspects of social work within the NYU Fields of Practice.

Matching Students to the Agency: The Placement Process

Generalized Practice Year
In the Generalized Practice year, students are placed in one of the fields of practice where he/she is expected to learn and practice within a generalist perspective. Learning objectives for Generalized Practice year are described in the course syllabi for the Integrative Practice/Field Instruction I and II courses.

Upon receipt of the student’s Field Learning Placement Questionnaire and an up-to-date resume (CV), a member of the faculty in Field Learning matches the student to a field learning site based on the student’s program, past experience, where he/she lives and requirements of the field learning site. All Field Learning web forms are located on the Silver School’s website at http://socialwork.nyu.edu/academics/msw/curriculum/field-learning/student-manuals-forms.html.

Specialized Practice Year
At the beginning of the second semester of the Generalized Practice year, the student will meet with his/her Faculty Advisor to plan for the Specialized Practice year. In the Specialized Practice year, it is possible for the student to focus his or her graduate education on specific aspects of social work within specific fields of practice. The Faculty Advisor, in the capacity of educational consultant, assists the student with the development of educational goals and objectives for the Specialized Practice year that will facilitate the individual student’s professional development and growth. Students may also elect to participate in one of the Focused Learning Opportunities in the Specialized Practice year. Fields of Practice and Focused Learning Opportunities are described in detail on the website. Please visit http://socialwork.nyu.edu/content/dam/sss/academics/msw/pdf/Fields%20of%20Practice%20and%20Focused%20Learning%20Opportunities%20-%202015.pdf

The student will complete the Placement Questionnaire for the Specialized Practice Year and an updated resume. The student’s Faculty Advisor will complete an Assessment Form. If the student is interested in one of the Focused Learning Opportunities, an additional short essay is required from the student (located on the Placement Questionnaire) as well as a letter of reference from the Faculty Advisor (located on the Faculty Advisor Assessment Form).
are allowed to select only one of the Focused Learning Opportunities. All Field Learning web forms can be found on the School’s website.

Once the Field Learning team receives all information from both the student and the Faculty Advisor, the student’s material will be given to a clinical faculty member in the Field Learning Office who will match the student to a field learning site based on the student’s academic program, professional interests, goals and objectives, past experience, where the student lives in relation to the field learning site, and requirements of the field learning site. The clinical faculty consults with the student’s classroom instructors and Faculty Advisor to make the best possible match. (Refer to the Placement Process and Timeline on the website for more detailed process and important deadlines).

Some field placements require health exams, vaccinations or other documentation in advance of the start date. Some of these have costs associated with them; students are responsible for these costs. These are requirements imposed by the field placement and not by NYU. Many of our affiliated agencies require criminal background checks with fingerprinting and drug screenings of potential employees and student interns. Those checks will be performed by the affiliated agency; NYU is not involved in those procedures. If students have any concerns about possible background procedures, they are advised to see the Assistant Dean, Office of Field Learning and Community Partnerships.

The School’s Responsibilities In Relation To Field Instruction

The School seeks to provide each student with a stimulating and relevant field learning experience. To accomplish this objective, the field learning faculty works closely with our community partnerships to establish the educational opportunities for students at the field learning site. Faculty Advisors serve as liaisons with the student’s field learning site agency and as consultants to students and Field Instructors. Faculty in field works closely with Faculty Advisors and students to monitor students’ experience in field learning.

Responsibilities assumed by the School include:
- Providing student’s resume as a guide for the field instructor.
- Consulting with the field instructor in defining the student’s educational needs and preparing the Initial Educational statement, Mid-Year and Final Evaluations.
- Providing guidelines for Field Instruction content and for evaluating students’ skill, development, and performance.
- Providing required seminars for new Field Instructors, and special seminars and workshops for all Field Instructors.
- Providing appropriate feedback to the agency and Field Instructors. The agency’s Educational Coordinator initiates and evaluates the motivation and effectiveness of the field instructor in collaboration with the School.
- Providing the field instructor with relevant materials in order to enhance the integration of academic and field learning.
- Providing the agency with information about School policies and programs, as they affect Field Instruction.
- Initiating the student review process when an educational problem requiring faculty consultation arises in the field.

School Policies in Relation to Field Learning
Schedule and Attendance

1. Students’ schedules at the field learning site are determined by the particular program in which they are enrolled. The practicum for all programs, except the Extended One-Year Residence Program (OYR), consists of 600 hours of Field Instruction in each year. The OYR Program requires one placement of 900 hours during the third year of residence.

2. Students in the Two Year Program and the 16 Month Academic Program are placed in an agency three days a week for a total of 21 hours. To provide continuity, instructors provide Field Instruction for the academic year. Full-time students are generally in the field on Mondays and two other weekdays.

3. During the Generalist Practice year of the Extended MSW Program, students are required to be in placement 15 hours per week (2 days) or 21 hours per week (3 days). For the Specialized Practice year, the Extended Program student is required to complete 21 hours per week. Students completing the 15-hour Extended Program schedule will remain in the field learning site until mid-summer to complete the required 600 hours. Students must be available at least one weekday for their field learning site. Placements with evening and weekend hours are limited and cannot be guaranteed.

4. In the 32 Month Program, the student will complete 65 credits within a learning community cohort that remains the same over the course of the program option. The student is placed in field learning sites during evenings and weekends with 3-4 hours during any weekday arranged with the agency. The purpose of the weekday schedule is for the student to be able to participate in critical agency meetings.

5. In the third residency year of the Extended OYR Program, the student will be required to be in placement 28 hours (4 days) or 21 hours (3 days). Students completing the 21-hour (3 days) schedule will remain in their field learning site through the summer to complete the required 900 hours.

6. Students may not work more than 7 hours per day, or more than 28 hours per week.

7. On field learning days, students will observe the agency’s calendar in addition to the NYU holidays with the exception of students placed in school settings. In this instance, the students will observe the public school recess rather than the NYU spring break.

8. Regular attendance in field learning is required. Students may not be absent from class to fulfill any agency obligation.

9. When a student is unable to report to the agency because of illness or an emergency, the field instructor and the Faculty Advisor must be notified immediately. If a student is absent more than three days during the academic year because of illness, emergency or other personal business, the time must be made up. The time made up must be worked out with the field instructor and the Faculty Advisor and approved by the Assistant Dean. (Please refer to the Required Hours Form in Appendix C of this Manual, and posted on NYU Classes).

10. If a student is out of placement for jury duty or religious observance, the time (exceeding three days) must be made up.

11. In the event of inclement weather, students should check with their agency/field instructor to see if they are operating on normal schedule, and should use their own discretion on whether it is safe to travel.

12. At the field instructor’s discretion, students may attend professional meetings during field learning site hours.

Excused Absence for Common Day and Career Fair

The GSA organizes Common Days each academic year. These are mandatory days for students and they are therefore excused from their field learning site. In the Specialized Practice Year students are also excused from field learning and class (with instructor knowledge) to attend the Career Fair scheduled in the spring semester.

Study Abroad during Winter Session: Field Learning Considerations

Because field learning takes place during winter intersession, students who wish to participate in a study abroad program during the winter intersession must carefully consider implications for their field placement with both their Faculty Advisor and field instructor and:

1. Review criteria for participation in the particular program and ensure eligibility.
2. Contact Faculty Advisor and field instructor to discuss the feasibility of participation in a study abroad program in the context of the student’s responsibilities at the field learning site.
3. Complete a Required Hours form (see Appendix C or NYU Classes) that clearly states how the student will make up the hours that he or she will miss during the study abroad program. The Required Hours form must be signed by student, field instructor, and Faculty Advisor and submitted to the Assistant Dean of Field Learning for approval.

Regulations

1. The student’s status in the agency should be made clear at all times (i.e., graduate social work student/social work intern).
2. In the event of a strike involving the agency’s social work staff, students should report to the Director of Field Learning for substitute assignments, instead of going to the agency.
3. Any requests for change of field learning site must first be discussed between the student and the Faculty Advisor. After examining the challenges that the student is encountering in the placement, the Faculty Advisor will determine if a further assessment is needed by the student, field instructor, and Faculty Advisor. If so, the Faculty Advisor will arrange to visit the agency and a three-way conference will be held. The Faculty Advisor will then consult with the Field Learning Clinical Faculty regarding the assessment, and a determination will be made if a change in placement is warranted. Any changes must be approved by the Assistant Dean of Field Learning.
4. The student is expected to pay costs related to travel to his/her practicum site. Every effort will be made to place students within a one-hour commute from home. Students should be reimbursed by the agency for any other expenses incurred in carrying out agency assignments.
5. Students should observe professional confidentiality by disguising any identifying data in agency material used for class assignment and process recording. Video tapes, audio tapes, cameras, or other material should not be used unless express permission is given by the agency for such use.
6. Students must follow all agency policies and procedures.

Agency Responsibility to Field Learning

Field Instructors are an integral part of the student’s learning community. The agency has a formal agreement with the Silver School to host student(s) as social work interns. The agency agrees to provide a field instructor (supervisor) for each student as well as other learning opportunities including, but not limited to participation on a team, attending case conferences and agency meetings. Field Instructors have at least three years of post-master’s experience and have successfully completed a Seminar in Field Instruction (SIFI) or are currently participating in the SIFI course in a social work accredited program. Field Instructors commit to carrying out the learning goals set forth by the Silver School’s curriculum guidelines as well as providing written evaluations on students in the following format: Initial Educational Assessment, Mid-Year Evaluation and Final Evaluation. (Refer to the section on Selection of Field Instructors and Seminar in Field Instruction for more detailed information).

Handling Questions, Concerns and Difficulties in Field

If the student has questions, concerns or difficulties at the agency, the field learning site, the student may first discuss this with the field instructor. If the student is uncertain how to handle the particular issue, he/she may contact the Faculty Advisor for consultation, guidance and advice. In the event that the Faculty Advisor is unavailable, the student may contact the Field Learning Office directly. In addition to the formal resources in place for the student (field instructor and Faculty Advisor), the student may also contact the student-organized peer support system, the Student Affairs office, or attend any of the drop-in meetings with the Assistant Dean of Field Learning along with other Deans.

The student’s Faculty Advisor is available to answer all questions about field learning for students, Field Instructors, and other agency staff. Concerns and potential problems should be brought to the advisor’s attention for review and advice. The advisor will contact the member of the Clinical Faculty in the Field Learning Office who oversees the particular field of practice in which the student is placed. The Field Learning Faculty member will meet with the Assistant Dean to review and assess with the student and/or agency the issues at hand and to develop an educational plan. The student may be asked to meet with the appropriate Faculty and/or the Assistant Dean of Field Learning to review and evaluate the student’s overall educational plan.

If a field instructor has concerns about a student’s performance after having attempted to work with a student around a set of practice and learning issues and has seen little progress in resolving them, the Faculty Advisor should be contacted immediately. The Faculty Advisor will intervene with both the student and the field instructor, sometimes jointly in a three-way meeting, to clarify the problem and suggest ways to resolve the issue.

If the problem continues, the Faculty Advisor will bring the matter to the Field Learning office as outlined in the process above.

Can a Student Request a Change in Field Learning Site?

A change in a field learning site can take place. However, this is not done lightly and not without a series of discussions between the student, field instructor, Faculty Advisor, and Field Learning office. If a student is in a field learning site that he/she feels is not meeting his/her educational needs, the student should first address this concern with the field instructor. The student may also contact his/her Faculty Advisor for guidance and advice. The Faculty Advisor will review the student’s educational goals and objectives in the context of the goals and objectives for either the Generalized Practice year or the Specialized Practice Year. If, upon review and reflection, the student and Faculty Advisor feel that the learning needs are not being met, a plan will be developed to address the situation. The student, the Faculty Advisor and field instructor and/or a member of the Faculty in Field Learning will collaborate to find a solution.

Field Instruction (Supervision) Definitions and Expectations

Primary Field Instructor

Every student is assigned a primary social work field instructor in the agency who has completed a Seminar in Field Instruction (SIFI) or is currently participating in the SIFI course in a social work accredited program. This primary field instructor carries the responsibility for the student’s overall training at the field learning site.

- The agency-based primary field instructor is responsible for assessing and reviewing the student’s educational plan. The primary social work field instructor is also responsible for coordinating additional aspects of field education, such as task assignments by other field learning designees. MSW students may not contract for or arrange private consultation on agency cases.
- The primary field instructor must set aside individual and dedicated time with the student to review assignments as well as in-depth review of process recordings, logs and/or reflective learning logs. The student is responsible for preparing an agenda for each conference and for submitting process recordings prior to the scheduled meeting. The field instructor is responsible for reviewing and commenting on the process recordings prior to the scheduled meeting.
- The primary field instructor is responsible for ensuring that the student receives an adequate amount of Field Instruction per week. This may be comprised of individual meetings with the field instructor, and other modalities such as group supervision, secondary Field Instruction and/or task supervision. For part-time students, Field Instruction time, assignments and recording should be adjusted proportionately.
- In the absence of the field instructor, a qualified staff member(s) should be designated as a back-up for the student. In the event of an extended absence, the field instructor or the Educational Coordinator should notify the Silver School immediately.

Secondary Field Instructor

In some cases a student may be assigned to a second service or community program outside of his/her primary field learning site. This kind of assignment is used to expand the student’s learning opportunities. The primary field instructor is responsible for the overall oversight of the student’s learning and should be in regular contact with the secondary field instructor.

Task Supervisor

In some field learning sites a student may be assigned to a task supervisor to learn specific tasks or modalities. A task supervisor may not be a social worker, but may work in other disciplines, e.g., a nurse, or a policy analyst. The task supervisor must communicate regularly with the primary field instructor and will participate in the evaluation of the student’s performance.

Group Supervision

Some field learning sites provide regularly scheduled group supervision to students. This model of Field Instruction can be very useful in expanding the student’s learning through the interchange with others. Agencies that have several students in placement from the Silver School or other schools are encouraged to provide an opportunity for all students to meet together.

Student Assignments

- Where possible, several assignments appropriate to the student’s level of learning should be prepared prior to his/her arrival at the agency.
- In the Generalist Practice year, students should have a range of assignments reflecting professional social work practice with different systems allowing the student to gain competency in the learning objectives listed above. In the Specialized Practice year, the student’s time should include face-to-face interviews and/or phone contacts with individual clients, families, groups, and collateral contacts. Additional assignments in direct practice may be given. Again, assignments should enable the student to gain competency in the learning objectives listed above.

- In the first three weeks actual practice assignments may vary depending on the agency workload and the field instructor’s assessment of the student’s skill. Within the first four to six weeks, the student should be meeting the requirement in order to learn to implement the values, knowledge, skills and behaviors of social work practice as outlined in the Field Evaluation Forms. (Refer to the Initial Educational Assessment, Mid-Year and Final Evaluations for Generalized and the Specialized Practice Year on the school’s website).

Safety Guidelines
The School recommends the following safety guidelines for students in the field learning site:

Agency-Related Travel and Home Visits

- Students should not dress inappropriately or conspicuously, e.g., use judgment in wearing jewelry.
- Students should use main thoroughfares for walking, and should be appropriately vigilant.
- If using subway transportation, students should not stand out of full view of the token booth attendant nor enter a car where a conductor is not present.
- Students should not plan trips for client groups unless arrangements are made to ensure safety, e.g., use of several workers in a children’s group, inclusion of parents, proper transportation, etc.
- Students should not travel without official agency identification that establishes their status as a representative of the agency.
- In the event of any emergency during a student’s field visit, the Faculty Advisor should be notified immediately by the agency. In the absence of the advisor, the Assistant Dean of Field Learning, or one of the Deans should be notified.
- Home visits are a valuable part of social work practice and should be included in the learning assignment when appropriate.
  - Students should not make home visits without notifying the field instructor of the date, time, location, and purpose of the visit.
  - Students are required to notify the agency by telephone upon the completion of the work day when in the field.
  - Follow agency policies and protocols regarding home visits.

Evening Hours
Under no circumstances should the student be alone at the agency or make home visits after agency hours. If there are special operational procedures that differ from those in effect during the day with respect to security and emergency procedures, these should be made clear to the student. Some agencies in high risk areas have provided transportation or have supplied an escort to a safe transportation stop near the agency. Students are strongly encouraged to negotiate such arrangements.

Physical Plant
Students should be thoroughly oriented to the agency building(s). Fire and disaster procedures should be reviewed. If maps for exiting the building in case of an emergency are posted or handed out, the student should be made aware of where they are located. Students should also be informed of security procedures, including how to locate a guard when necessary. Students should not be required to remain in the agency when conditions prevail that are hazardous to health. For example, students should have the option to leave when the heat is not functioning on a cold day without using sick leave. Although matters of this nature must be left to the discretion of the student and the field instructor, students should not be pressured to remain at the agency when conditions are not reasonably conducive to performing agency business.

Conditions for Interaction with Clients

As noted above, students should be made aware of security operations and how to get help quickly if necessary when interviewing a potentially dangerous client. Students are required to inform their Field Instructors when they will be interviewing such a client, and discretion should be used in determining whether or not to keep the door closed. Rooms for interviewing should not be isolated from the main stream of agency traffic. If a student feels uncomfortable about an interviewing situation, other arrangements or reasonable precautions should be requested.

If a Student Feels Uncomfortable at the Field Learning Site Due to Harassment or Discrimination

If a student at a field learning site feels either harassed or discriminated against, the student should first contact the field instructor and/or Faculty Advisor. The student may also contact the Assistant Dean for Student Affairs at 1 Washington Square North (Room 212) or by calling (212) 998-9189 for guidance. Students may discuss the circumstances of their complaint confidentially.

New York University is committed to maintaining a learning and working environment that is free of bias, prejudice, and harassment—an environment that supports, nurtures, and rewards career and educational advancement on the basis of ability and performance. Harassment based upon race, gender, color, religion, age, national origin, ethnicity, disability, veteran or military status, sexual orientation, marital status, citizenship status, or any other legally protected basis is prohibited by law and undermines the character and purpose of the University. Such harassment is illegal and against University policy, and will not be tolerated.

This policy covers all members of the University community and those who affect the University community such as vendors, visitors or agencies. The University encourages everyone to report all incidents of harassment regardless of who the offender may be.

To learn more about the policy including definitions of prohibited harassment, confidentiality, etc., visit www.nyu.edu/eo/anti-harass-policy.pdf. Students should be encouraged to not sit silently with these important matters.

Registration for Field Instruction

Students must register for Field Instruction each semester that they are in the field. Please find programs below with instructions. Further instructions and Class Numbers for registration for Field Instruction may be found on the School’s website.

First-time Field Instruction Students

Two Year Program, Extended Program, and 16 Month Program

Register for Field Instruction I, MSWFD-GS 2100 (or Field Instruction II, MSWFD-GS 2200 in the second semester of field). The section number (the last three digits after the course number) should match the section number of the Social Work Practice I course. So, for example, if one registers for SW Practice I, MSWPF-GS 2001 005, then he/she should register for Field Instruction I, MSWFD-GS 2100 005. The Field Learning office may sort students into a different section at the start of the semester.

Advanced Standing Program
Register for Field Instruction III, MSWFD-GS 2300 (or Field Instruction IV, MSWFD-GS 2400 in the second semester of field). The section number (the last three digits after the course number) should match the section number of the Social Work Practice III course. So, for example, for Practice III, MSWAC-GS 2002 010, students should register for Field Instruction III, MSWFD-GS 2300 010.

One Year Residence (OYR) Program
Register for Field Instruction OYR-A, MSWFD-GS 2500 (or Field Instruction OYR-B, MSWFD-GS 2600 in the second semester of field), section 001. The Field Learning office may sort students into a different section at the start of the semester.

32 Month Program
Register for Field Instruction 32 Month I, MSWFD-GS 3100 001.

Continuing Field Instruction Students
Two Year Program, Extended Program, and 16 Month Program
Register for Field Instruction III, MSWFD-GS 2300 002 (or Field Instruction IV, MSWFD-GS 2400 in the last semester of field). The Field Learning office will sort students into their Faculty Advisor’s section at the start of the semester.

32 Month Program
Register for MSWFD-GS 3200 001 in the second semester of field, MSWFD-GS 3300 001 in the third semester, MSWFD-GS 3400 001 in the fourth semester, MSWFD-GS 3500 001 in the fifth semester, and MSWFD-GS 3600 001 in the sixth semester.

Professional Liability (Malpractice) Insurance
The School provides professional liability (malpractice) insurance for all students in field placement without cost to the student. Contact the Field Learning office at 212.998.5920 or silver.fieldlearning@nyu.edu for questions about the coverage.
VII. RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES

Essential Abilities and Attributes for Social Work Students
Students at the New York University Silver School of Social Work are expected to possess the following abilities and attributes at a level appropriate to their year in the program. These physical, cognitive, emotional and character requirements provide reasonable assurance that students can complete the entire course of study and participate fully in all aspects of social work education and practice. Students are expected to meet these standards in the classroom, in their practica, and elsewhere. Attention to these standards will be part of evaluations made by faculty during students’ course of study. Acquisition of competence as a social worker is a lengthy and complex process that will be undermined by significant limitations of the student’s ability to participate in the full spectrum of the experiences and the requirements of the curriculum.

- Motor Abilities: Social work students need to have sufficient motor abilities to attend class and practicum placement with or without technical accommodation. Reasonable accommodation through technology for limitations in motor abilities will be allowed. The Moses Center for Students with Disabilities may be consulted regarding reasonable accommodations.

- Sensory Abilities: Social work students need to have the ability through their senses to participate in classes and practicum placement and to acquire and integrate data through use of their senses with or without technical accommodation. Reasonable accommodation through technology for limitations in sensory abilities will be allowed. The Moses Center for Students with Disabilities may be consulted regarding reasonable accommodations.

- Communication Skills: Social work students need to communicate effectively with other students, faculty, staff, clients and other professionals. Students should be able to express their ideas and feelings clearly and demonstrate a willingness and ability to listen to others. They must have sufficient skills in spoken and written English to understand program content.

- Professional Commitment: Social work students need to possess a commitment to the values and ethical standards of professional social work. They are expected to be knowledgeable about and adhere to the National Association of Social Workers Code of Ethics.

- Knowledge Base of Social Work Practice: Social work students need to recognize the distinctive components of the biopsychosocial perspective of social work practice and social work methodologies. They are expected to use this knowledge in guiding their work with clients and other professionals.

- Self-awareness: Social work students need to know how their values, attitudes, beliefs, emotions and past experiences affect their thinking, behavior and relationships. Students must be willing to examine and change their behavior when it interferes with working with clients and other collaborative professional relationships.
• Empathy: Social work students need to comprehend another individual’s way of life and values. They must be able to communicate this empathy and support to the client as a basis for a productive professional relationship.

• Objectivity: Social work students need to be objective in systematically evaluating clients and their situations.

• Valuing Diversity: Social work students need to appreciate and value human diversity. They must serve in an appropriate manner all persons in need of assistance, regardless of the person’s age, class, race, ethnicity, religious affiliation, gender and its expression, ability, sexual orientation and value system.

• Interpersonal Skills: Social work students need to demonstrate the interpersonal skills to relate effectively and sensitively to students, faculty, staff, clients and other professionals.

• Leadership: Social work students need to show initiative in making professional contributions in their practice setting.

• Self-care: Social work students need to recognize the signs of stress, develop appropriate means of self-care, and seek supportive resources if necessary.

• Professional Behavior: Social work students need to behave professionally by knowing and practicing within the scope of social work, adhering to the Code of Ethics, respecting others, being punctual and dependable, prioritizing responsibilities, and completing assignments on time.

Ethical Use of Social Media in Practice
In order to ensure the most appropriate and effective use of social media and to avoid unique challenges that social media usage may create, students should use ethical principles as outlined in the NASW Code of Ethics as a guide to practice. Specific guidelines on social media content and presence may differ at different agencies and institutions. Students are responsible for gaining clarity on these guidelines before sharing information and experiences, whether for professional, educational, or personal purposes, on social media outlets. In general, students should keep in mind the following:

• Social work students should avoid conflicts of interest that interfere with the exercise of professional discretion and impartial judgment, and should avoid dual or multiple relationships with clients.

• Student should respect a client’s right to privacy, and should not solicit private information unless it is immediately relevant.

• Students should not discuss confidential information in any setting unless privacy can be ensured.

• Students should not permit their private conduct to interfere with their professional work, and should make clear distinctions between statements and actions made as a private individual and as a social work professional.

Professional Misconduct and Discipline
Policy on Plagiarism and Academic Integrity

A professional social work degree should represent genuine learning and readiness to undertake responsibilities that include adhering to the social work Code of Ethics. The degree's integrity must be carefully safeguarded. Faculty is responsible for helping students learn to understand and value other people's ideas, to use resources and conscientiously acknowledge them, and to develop and clarify their own thinking. In addition, all the usual academic norms addressing honesty in academic performance, such as following all of the rules involving examinations of any kind, must be scrupulously followed. Failure to do so can result in dismissal from the program.

All students are expected to pursue the highest standards of academic excellence and integrity. Students must adhere to the norms of a serious professional community. A student's responsibilities include the following:

- A duty to respect the efforts of others by submitting his or her own academic work and case recordings.
- A duty to acknowledge properly the efforts of others.
- A duty to safeguard and respect the property and rights of others.

The following is a link to the University Policy on Academic Integrity for Students: www.nyu.edu/about/policies-guidelines-compliance/policies-and-guidelines/academic-integrity-for-students-at-nyu.html.

Definition of Plagiarism

In order to make the rules with regard to what does and does not constitute a breach of academic ethics as clear as possible, the faculty has formally clarified the definition of plagiarism for NYU School of Social Work as follows:

- Plagiarism constitutes both academic misconduct and a breach of professional trust.
- Plagiarism is presenting someone else's work, either academic or field related, as though it were your own.
- More specifically, plagiarism is to present as your own a sequence of words quoted without quotation marks from another writer; a paraphrased passage from another writer's work; facts or ideas gathered, organized, and reported by someone else, orally and/or in writing, without attribution.
- Since plagiarism is a matter of fact, not of the student's intention, it is crucial that acknowledgment of sources be accurate and complete.
- Even where there is no conscious intention to deceive, the failure to make appropriate acknowledgment constitutes plagiarism.

Ways to Avoid Plagiarism

- When taking notes from any written material (published or not) summarize, do not paraphrase. If you are not sure about this, check with your instructor. Even summaries should be acknowledged in your presentation since the idea and often the manner in which the material is organized is the work of someone else.
• When someone else has said something so well that you want to include it in your work, be sure to copy it exactly, follow APA quotation guidelines and cite the copied portion(s) appropriately.
• A student is fully responsible for any work he or she submits. If the work is typed by a typist, the student must read the finished work to be sure that no references or quotation marks have been omitted.
• If you allow another student to copy your work (including computer programs and research data) and submit it as his/her own, or if you submit a copy of someone else's work and claim it as your own, you have plagiarized.
• Understand that your reader will want to know the sources you used in your research/writing and may be concerned about phrasing that is not like your usual writing style. Online material must be clearly referenced as well.
• It is recommend that you cite electronic sources in the same manner you would non-electronic sources. Additionally, you must include all the electronic retrieval information needed for others to locate the sources you cited (i.e. web URLs or DOIs).

For more specific information on citing electronic sources please visit the below websites:

Advisory Committee on Academic Integrity

Purpose
The purpose of the Advisory Committee on Academic Integrity (CAI) is to review and provide a disposition of problems or issues related to academic integrity.

All faculty, students, and other parties may refer matters concerning student or faculty academic integrity. All referring parties may consult or file a formal complaint with the Committee. If filing a formal complaint against a student or faculty member the CAI will inform the relevant student, academic advisor, or faculty member.

All matters referred to the CAI will be considered confidential.

Procedures
1. Consultation with the Committee
Parties who wish to consult with the Committee may do so by sending a memo to the chairperson of the CAI setting forth the basis for the request.
   a. The CAI will review the memo requesting consultation within two weeks.
   b. The CAI will transmit an opinion in writing to the party requesting consultation and any other relevant party within two weeks of their review.

2. Filing a Formal Complaint Concerning a Student
A party who wishes to lodge a formal complaint may do so by sending a memo and documentation to the chairperson of the CAI. Formal complaints must be accompanied by documentation in support of the allegation concerning the violation of academic integrity. A student against whom a complaint is filed may submit a written response to the allegation.
   a. The CAI will review the allegation and supporting documents within thirty days.
   b. The CAI will forward a written recommendation to the Dean for action within two weeks of their completed review.
c. A copy of the recommendation will be sent to the party who filed the complaint.
d. The Dean will inform the CAI of the decision.
e. A written summary will be given to the student and be placed in the student’s permanent file.

3. Filing a Formal Complaint Concerning Faculty
A formal complaint may be lodged by sending a memo and documentation to the chairperson of the CAI. Formal complaints must be accompanied by documentation in support of the allegation concerning the violation of academic integrity. A faculty member against whom a complaint is filed may submit a written response to the allegation.
   a. The CAI will review the allegation and supporting documents within thirty days.
   b. The CAI will forward a written recommendation to the Dean for action within two weeks of their completed review.
   c. A copy of the recommendation will be sent to the individual who filed the complaint.
   d. The Dean will inform the CAI of the decision.
   e. A written summary will be given to the faculty member and be placed in the faculty member’s permanent file.

4. Appeal Process
If a student wishes to appeal the decision of the Dean, the student can submit a written appeal to the NYU Office of Student Affairs in order to invoke a Student Grievance Procedure.

If a faculty member wishes to appeal the decision of the Dean, the faculty member can request that a five member ad hoc committee be appointed by the Office of the Vice Provost (NYU Faculty Handbook).

Policy on Academic Probation and Dismissal
MSW students will be placed on automatic probation if their academic performance reflects any of the following:
- Less than a 3.0 cumulative GPA
- An “F” grade

If a student’s academic performance does not improve sufficiently to meet the minimum criteria for remaining in good standing after a semester, he/she will be dismissed. These criteria are: a GPA of at least 3.0; no “F” grades; and completion of all course credits for which students are registered, meaning no “W” grades or withdrawal from courses during the probationary semester.

Dual Relationships
As stated in the NASW Code of Ethics, dual professional/personal relationships must be avoided whenever possible. Because of the clinical nature of the BSW, MSW, PhD, and post-graduate programs of the School, the faculty adopted the following statement in 1991:

In order to avoid even the semblance of a conflict of interest, full-time faculty members may not take any student into treatment, whether enrolled in the School of Social Work as a full-time or part-time, undergraduate, master’s, or doctoral student.
Students in treatment with members of the full-time faculty prior to admission to the School may not enroll in classes taught by or become advisees of their therapists. It is the responsibility of each faculty member to ensure compliance with this policy.

In addition, any student who is in an uncomfortable situation regarding a dual relationship of any kind can seek guidance and assistance from his/her Faculty Advisor, Program Director, or other faculty members at the School.

Student Community Standing Review

STUDENT STANDING COMMITTEE (SSC)

Section 1. Purpose
- 1.1 The Student Standing Committee reviews students enrolled in the academic degree programs (BS, MSW), who have been referred for reports of unethical or unprofessional behavior in the classroom, field setting and school community at large. Upon review if the committee determines that a student’s behavior meets the standards of unprofessional or unethical behavior the committee recommends appropriate action to the Dean.

Section 2. Rights and responsibilities of each party
- 2.1 The Chair will inform the student that he or she has the right to exclude either or both student members from the hearing and that the exercise of that right must be made in writing to the Chair.
- 2.2 Any member of the SSC who has a conflict of interest or the appearance of such a conflict should excuse himself or herself from a specific case.
- 2.3 The student will be given a copy of the written complaint in advance of the hearing.
- 2.4 The student has the right to submit a written response to the written complaint in advance of the meeting.

Section 3. Procedures
- 3.1 All members of the School community (faculty, field instructors, students, and staff) can make a referral to the SSC. A party who wishes to lodge a complaint may do so by sending a memo and documentation to the chairperson of the SSC. Referrals must include any stated School/University policy or professional conduct violations and any attempts that have been made to resolve the issue.
- 3.2 The SSC Chair will inform the student, the complainant, and the other directly relevant parties regarding the referral, information regarding the SSC procedures, and the rights and responsibilities of all parties. In addition, the Chair will encourage the student to seek support from the Student Affairs Office.
- 3.3 The Chair will convene the hearing as soon as it can be arranged, with every effort being made to convene it within ten (10) working days. The SSC will consist of five (5) elected faculty members (two tenured, one tenure track, and two clinical full-time faculty members) plus two student members (one graduate and one undergraduate student). The five elected faculty members will elect a Chair. The Office of Student Affairs will coordinate with a relevant group to select the two student members. The members of the SSC shall serve staggered 2-year terms. In addition to the SSC committee members, parties who may participate in the hearing include the faculty advisor, the field instructor if the alleged violation occurred in a field setting, and/or the course instructor if the alleged violation occurred in a classroom or course. The Chair may invite additional relevant participants as necessary.

- 3.4 The student shall be advised that she or he may invite a person to attend the hearing in an advisory or support capacity. The student shall not be permitted to bring an attorney or law student. The student’s invited supporter is not allowed to question, cross-examine, or voluntarily contribute directly in the SSC hearing. Participation as an advisor/supporter is voluntary and any faculty, student, or staff member can decline the student’s invitation to attend the meeting. The SSC Chair must be notified in advance if such a person will be present.

- 3.5 Prior to the hearing, the SSC will review all material submitted. At the hearing, the SSC will hear oral presentations from the participating parties, deliberate in private, and determine whether a student’s behavior meets the standards of unprofessional or unethical behavior.

- 3.6 If the SSC determines that a student’s behavior meets the standards of unprofessional or unethical behavior, according to University and professional social work standards, the committee will convey their conclusion about the allegation and recommend appropriate action to the Dean. Recommendations may include, but are not limited to: placement on probationary status, a change in field placement, a leave of absence or dismissal from the program.

- 3.7 The Associate Dean for Academic Affairs and Director, MSW Program makes the final decision regarding the alleged violation.

- 3.8 Notification: Within five (5) working days, a written summary of the hearing and recommendations will be prepared and sent to the Dean. A copy of the Dean’s decision will be sent to the SSC, the student, the complainant and others who meet the “need to know” policy. A copy of the written summary and decision will also be included in the student’s permanent file.

Section 4. Submission of Materials in Preparation for the Hearing

- 4.1 Materials pertaining to a student’s performance while enrolled at the School shall be assembled and made available to the SSC.

- 4.2 Written material for the hearing will be prepared and submitted by the student, the complainant, and when appropriate, by the field instructor, classroom instructor, or other relevant parties.

- 4.3 All materials, except the student’s statement, must be submitted to the SSC at least five (5) working days before the hearing. Copies of written materials submitted to the SSC must be given to the student at least four (4) working days before the hearing. Student response statements must be submitted to the Chair at least two (2) working days before the hearing.

- 4.4 In order to protect confidentiality, all materials used by the SSC shall be returned to the Chair by all participants, including the student, with the exception that the student may retain his/her own notes. The Dean’s Office will retain one (1) set of all material in a confidential file.

Section 5. Appeal Process

- 5.1 The student or complainant may appeal the decision of the Dean by following the University's Student Grievance Procedure, available through New York University’s Student Community Standards Office/the Division of Student Affairs.
5.2 According to the University Student Grievance Procedure, only matter of process, not the substance of the decision, can be appealed.

Student Grievances

1. Application. These grievance procedures are available to any New York University student registered at the Silver School of Social Work to resolve any grievance involving an alleged violation directly affecting that student, by any member of the School community, of any of the written policies of the University or the School. Complaints of sexual harassment should be filed under the provisions of the formal procedure in such cases as set forth in the University Policy on Anti-Harassment and referenced in this manual.

2. Informal Resolution. Students wishing to grieve an alleged violation of School or University policy shall first contact, within fifteen (15) working days of any occurrence giving rise to the grievance or the time they could reasonably have learned of the occurrence, the person responsible for the matter being grieved (the respondent) and attempt to resolve the grievance informally. Students uncertain how to proceed may consult with the Assistant Dean for Student & Alumni Affairs. At the request of the student (grievant) or respondent, the Assistant Dean or other appropriate member of the School's faculty or administration shall assist the student grievant in this attempt at resolution by arranging a meeting of the parties, attending such meeting(s), and otherwise working toward resolving the grievance. This initial step in the procedure shall be handled privately and confidentially.

3. Formalizing the Grievance. If the matter is not resolved to the grievant’s satisfaction within fifteen (15) working days after the initial notification of the complaint and the attempt at informal resolution, the grievant may obtain formal review of the matter by submitting a written complaint within twenty (20) working days to the respondent and to the Assistant Dean for Student & Alumni Affairs, or, in the case that the Assistant Dean for Student & Alumni Affairs is a respondent, to the person appointed by the Dean of the School. The complaint must:
   a. state the written School or University policy that allegedly has been violated;
   b. describe the evidence supporting the alleged violation;
   c. indicate what redress or remedy the grievant seeks; and
   d. provide a brief history of the informal attempts made to resolve the grievance.

4. Initial Review of the Grievance. If the grievance arises out of a program or educational activity of the School, the Dean’s office will designate a Grievance Officer to review the complaint, who ordinarily will be director of the educational program in which the student is enrolled or his or her designee. If there is doubt about who the Grievance Officer should be, the Dean's office will determine who is the highest ranking person, with the exception of the Dean, to handle the matter. The Grievance Officer shall meet with the complainant and with such other persons as he or she shall deem appropriate for the purpose of ascertaining the facts and attempting to resolve the complaint. Within twenty (20) working days, the Grievance Officer shall render a written decision on the merits of the grievance to the grievant and to the respondent, with copies to the Dean of the School. The review conducted by the Grievance Officer and the written decision on the merits of the grievance shall be handled privately and confidentially.

5. The Judicial Board. If the grievant or the respondent does not accept the decision of the Grievance Officer, he or she may decide, within ten (10) working days of receipt of the Grievance Officer’s written decision to bring the matter before the Judicial Board of the School. The Judicial Board shall consist of five (5) members, two (2) of whom shall be students, two (2) of whom shall be tenured faculty members, and one (1) of whom shall be a clinical faculty member. All members of the School's Judicial Board shall be appointed annually by the Dean. Any member of the Judicial Board who has a conflict of interest or the appearance of such a conflict shall excuse themselves from a specific case, and a replacement member shall be appointed by the Dean for that case.

6. Powers of the Judicial Board. If the School's Judicial Board finds that there would be no violation of School or University policy even if all of the alleged facts and circumstances were as described by the grievant, the Board may dismiss the grievance. The Board may also choose to conduct any further proceeding that it deems is needed, provided that:
   a. It shall decide what is and is not relevant to the complaint and consider only matters relevant to the complaint being heard.
   b. It shall permit the grievant and the respondent to be accompanied by another person from within the School community during any proceeding if he or she wishes to have such a person present. However, the Judicial Board (Grievance Officer) must be notified in advance if such a person will be present.
   c. The Judicial Board shall render a written decision to the Dean of the School within twenty (20) working days of receiving the written request for review, with copies to the grievant, and the respondent. The decision shall include findings of fact, a statement of the School or University policy that is alleged to have been violated, an opinion on the validity of the grievance, and, if appropriate, recommendations for corrective action.

7. Procedures of the Judicial Board. The Judicial Board shall select one of its members to preside over each hearing of a grievance. Both parties (grievant and respondent) shall have access to all documents reviewed by the Board. They shall also have the right to be present at any hearing conducted by the Board and to question anyone who is asked to speak to the Board on the matter. The Judicial Board shall conduct its proceedings and deliberations privately and confidentially. Final deliberations of the Board shall be in closed session. Judicial Board decisions shall be by majority vote.

Appeal of the Decision of the Judicial Board.
The student or complainant may appeal the decision of the Judicial Board by following the University's Student Grievance Procedure, available through New York University’s Student Community Standards Office/the Division of Student Affairs.

University Policies

Statement and Guidelines on Bullying, Threatening and other forms of Disruptive Behavior Academic communities exist to facilitate the process of acquiring and exchanging knowledge and understanding, to enhance the personal and intellectual development of its members, and to advance the interests of society. Essential to this mission is that all members of the University Community are safe and free to engage in a civil process of teaching and learning through their experiences both inside and outside the classroom. Accordingly, no student should engage in any form of behavior that interferes with the academic or educational process, compromises the personal safety or well-being of another, or disrupts the administration of University programs or services. Although any action that is interpreted as being disrespectful, distracting, or even disorderly can be disturbing to others, it may not constitute a form of Disruptive Behavior that is actionable under this policy.

Examples of disruptive behavior can be found within the statement guidelines. Students can report bullying, threatening and other forms of disruptive behavior to the Assistant Dean for Student Affairs at courtney.omealley@nyu.edu or 212-998-9189

Affirmative Action and Anti-Discrimination Policies
Inquiries regarding the application of the federal laws and regulations concerning affirmative action and anti-discrimination policies and procedures at New York University may be referred to the Vice Provost Frances White at 212.998.2181. Inquiries may also be referred to the Director of the Office of Federal Contract Compliance, U.S. Department of Labor.

Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA)
Among its several purposes, the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA) was enacted to:
- Protect the privacy of students' educational records;
- Establish the rights of students to inspect and review their educational records;
- Provide students with an opportunity to allow inaccurate or misleading information in their educational records to be corrected.

For more specific information, you can go the NYU FERPA webpage. You can also contact Student Affairs, 1 Washington Square North, 212.998.5926.

New York University Sexual Misconduct, Relationship Violence, and Stalking Policy
New York University, including its Schools and other units, Global Network University sites, and all University Affiliates (together, “NYU”) seeks to maintain a safe learning, living, and working environment. To that end, this policy prohibits Sexual Misconduct, which includes Sexual or Gender-Based Harassment, Sexual Assault, and Sexual Exploitation. This policy also prohibits Relationship Violence, Stalking, and Retaliation against an individual for making a good faith report of conduct prohibited under this policy. These prohibited forms of conduct are unlawful, undermine the character and purpose of NYU, and will not be tolerated.

NYU adopts this policy with a commitment to: (1) preventing Sexual Misconduct, Relationship Violence, Stalking, and Retaliation (together, “Prohibited Conduct”); (2) fostering a community in which such conduct is not tolerated; (3) cultivating a climate where all individuals are well-informed and comfortable in reporting Prohibited Conduct; and (4) identifying the standards by which violations of this policy will be evaluated. This policy defines Prohibited Conduct; outlines available resources and reporting options available to students and employees; and references the applicable investigative and disciplinary procedures. NYU will take prompt and equitable action to eliminate Prohibited Conduct, prevent its recurrence, and address its effects. NYU also conducts prevention, awareness, and training programs for students and employees to facilitate the goals of this policy.

NYU does not discriminate on the basis of sex or gender in its education or employment programs and activities.

TO WHOM THE POLICY APPLIES
This policy applies to NYU students (“Students”); NYU employees, including faculty and visiting faculty, professional staff, and administrators (“Employees”); contractors, vendors, or other third parties within NYU’s control (“Third Parties”); and visitors or guests of NYU (together, “Covered Persons”). This policy pertains to acts of Prohibited Conduct committed by Students, Employees and Third Parties when:

1. the conduct occurs on NYU premises;
2. the conduct occurs in the context of an NYU employment or education program or activity, including, but not limited to NYU-sponsored study abroad, research, or internship programs; or
3. the conduct occurs outside the context of an NYU employment or education program or activity, but (i) has continuing adverse effects on NYU premises or in any NYU employment or education program or activity or (ii) occurs in close proximity to NYU premises and is connected to volatile conduct on NYU premises.

Other forms of discrimination, including discrimination based on race, religion, and disability, as well as any other form of sex-based discrimination not covered by this policy, are addressed by the Non-Discrimination and Anti-Harassment Policy and Complaint Procedures for Students.

NYU strongly encourages Covered Persons who become aware of an incident of Prohibited Conduct to report the incident to local law enforcement by contacting 911 (or equivalent in other jurisdictions) and to NYU by contacting NYU’s Title IX coordinator at 212-998-2352. Students may discuss the circumstances of their complaint confidentially.

New York University Policies on Substance Abuse and Alcoholic Beverages

New York University believes that the best way to maintain an appropriate campus environment with respect to drugs and alcohol is through preventive education about the dangers of drug abuse and compassionate attention to the needs of those who may require help with alcohol or other drug-related problems. To that end, the University provides on-campus support programs and services as well as information about related services that are available in the local community. Information about these programs and services may be obtained at www.nyu.edu/nyuhc/ or by calling 212.443.1234.

In addition to policies and practices that emphasize concern for the welfare of individuals, the University also recognizes the importance of maintaining the safety and well-being of the community as a whole.

University Student Conduct Policies

All university student conduct policies and general rules of conduct for students can be found at https://www.nyu.edu/about/policies-guidelines-compliance/policies-and-guidelines/university-policy-on-student-conduct.html
VIII. STUDENT SERVICES

Silver School of Social Work Office of Student & Alumni Affairs
The Office of Student Affairs is located in 1 Washington Square North, Room 212 and plays a vital role in maintaining and enriching the school's community. We plan initiatives to improve student life, facilitate student achievement, and welcome and orient new students. We also realize that being a social work student is very challenging and offer support for a variety of student concerns, including personal and academic concerns. Students may seek assistance, advocacy, and satisfactory resolutions to problems.

Student Affairs provides the following resources:
- advising
- career services
- community development and student services
- counseling & student support
- international student support
- housing
- orientation and transitions
- accommodations for students with disabilities
- student community development
- NASW liaison

For more information, and to get up-to-date information on School happenings and events, visit the Student Affairs blog here: http://blogs.nyu.edu/socialwork/student.affairs/.

Feel free to stop into our offices or call 212.998.5926 to speak to someone about your interests, concerns, or questions. You can also email silver.studentaffairs@nyu.edu. Our regular business hours are 9:00 AM – 5:00 PM, Monday through Friday, except during University holidays. We are here to assist you to make the most of your student experience.

Student Course Evaluations
At the end of each semester, students are emailed with links to electronic evaluations for each of the previous semester’s courses as well as their field placement (if in field). These course evaluations are extremely important in the shaping and restructuring of courses and professional development of professors. Because of the invaluable nature of student feedback, the School strongly encourages students to complete these evaluations. They are completely anonymous and confidential, and results are not released until all grades have been submitted.

Students wanting to review course ratings can go to the Online Course Evaluation website, www.onlinecourseevaluations.com/nyusocial.

Student Activities
The Graduate Student Association
Phone: 212.998.5888
The Graduate Student Association is an elected student organization that acts as a liaison between the students and the administration and faculty. The GSA typically is the place where graduate students can bring feedback about the program or suggestions for events and can come for direction and assistance. The GSA also plans several events for the student body throughout the academic year. Some events include student-to-student forums, student-faculty meets, informal networking events for social work students, mentoring programs, coffee workshops, end-of-semester celebrations, career panels, and a graduation party.

Student Leadership Council
The Graduate Student Association and the office of Student Affairs at the Silver School of Social Work invite continuing students to join the Student Leadership Council. The mission of the council is to provide pathways to student leadership and open the doors to the many professional, academic, and personal benefits those opportunities create. All Council members must participate in a leadership training in August and in Fall Orientation. Throughout the year, members of the Student Leadership Council will have the opportunity to participate in other activities as their schedules allow. Opportunities will be available for students in all programs and at all campuses, including informally advising and mentoring first year MSW students and new international students, facilitating social justice workshops, leading and planning social outings, joining curricular or other school-wide committees, moderating career panels, attending special networking events, working with the GSA on major events, and more. Applications for the Student Leadership Council are open each summer for the upcoming academic year.

Student Groups
The School of Social Work has various student groups, listed below. You can always find the most updated list of NYU Silver School student groups here: http://socialwork.nyu.edu/students/student-life/councils-and-activities.html

In addition, the University has a number of groups with a variety of interests and functions. For more detailed information on all University groups, please refer to the NYU Student’s Guide available online http://www.nyu.edu/life/student-life/getting-involved/clubs-and-organizations.html

Animal Assisted Therapy in Social Work
The Animal Assisted Therapy in Social Work group provides a forum for students to discuss and explore the variety of animal assisted interventions in the context of social work - from clinical applications and programs, to evidence based research in the field. Activities will include guest speakers from programs currently incorporating animal assisted therapy (AAT), to peer led discussions of current research regarding efficacy of AAT. In addition, the group holds monthly meetings to facilitate networking and information sharing to raise awareness of local and national lectures, events, and conferences, as well as volunteer opportunities. The group is open to all students. To contact this group, please email silver.aatsw@nyu.edu.

Chinese Student Support Group (CSSG)
The Chinese Student Support Group (CSSG) aims at supporting Chinese students and Asian International students to better adjust to their lives in New York and in the United States, so they can make the most out of their studies. CSSG is also seeking to better facilitate and promote professional communication between Silver and the Asian social work communities in New York, and across the world. CSSG executes its mission by actively holding group meetings, bringing in community resources such as helpful advisory, websites, and guests lectures. CSSG’s work closely revolves around the principle of building better professional communities through dialoguing. To contact this group please email silver.chinesesupportgroup@nyu.edu

Feminists of Silver
To create a community for feminist social workers and give a voice to those social workers dedicated to helping women and female-identified individuals. Contact this group at: silver.feminists@nyu.edu

Latino Social Work Student Organization
The Latino Social Work Student Organization provides support and guidance to Latino students attending NYU Silver School of Social Work. The Latino Social Work Student Organization helps students deepen their understanding of health and social welfare issues facing the Latino community within NYC, broader United States and globally. Our focus is to provide students and the NYU Silver School of Social Work community with greater opportunities to increase cultural competency and effectiveness in providing services to this diverse and multifaceted community. Contact the group at silver.lswso@nyu.edu

NextSteppers: Silver Non-Traditional Students Association (Westchester)
NextSteppers aims to create a student organization for the Westchester campus based upon the Next Steppers organization at the Washington Square campus. The group works toward creating a community that aims to serve as a resource as well as a support system as students embark on new careers as social workers, supporting the needs students who are changing careers and/or returning to school after several years. The group helps bring additional resources and programs to the Westchester campus that are being offered for students in Washington Square. Activities include social events as well as presentations/discussions each semester. Future opportunities may include volunteer activities as well. Contact the group at silver.nextstepperswestchester@nyu.edu

Phi Alpha Honor Society
The NYU Silver School of Social Work has a chapter of this national honor society for social work students. The Purpose of Phi Alpha Honor Society is to provide a closer bond among students of social work and promote humanitarian goals and ideals. Phi Alpha fosters high standards of education for social workers and invites into membership those who have attained excellence in scholarship and achievement in social work. To contact this group, please email silver.phialpha@nyu.edu.

Pride in Practice
Pride in Practice is the student group for Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender and Queer students of the Silver School of Social Work at New York University. Pride in Practice seeks to provide emotional support in a safe environment for LGBTQ Silver students regardless of race, ethnicity, gender identity, sexual orientation, political viewpoint, and religious/spiritual practice. Pride in Practice is also committed to educating both the Silver School of Social Work... community and society at large about the issues that are important to LGBTQ people. We envision having a presence in events happening beyond NYU, and advocating for social justice as we engage in dismantling oppression within our own community. To contact this group, please e-mail silver.prideinpractice@nyu.edu.

Silver Atheists, Agnostics, and Secular Humanists
Silver Atheists, Agnostics, and Secular Humanists (SAASH) was organized to create a safe and engaging space for students at the Silver School of Social Work who identify as atheist, agnostic, and/or secular humanist. SAASH seeks to develop an atmosphere of mutual aid and support among members and, at the same time, promote discussion on how our professional values as social workers are often connected to our positive moral and ethical values as non-theists and humanists. SAASH is also committed to exploring the ways in which the social, political, and historical foundations of the social work profession were, in many ways, influenced by humanist and non-theistic thinking, and how modern practitioners can revisit and reclaim the secular legacy of social work. Finally, SAASH wishes to promote dialogue between social work students and practitioners who identify as atheist, agnostic, and/or Secular Humanist, those who identify as religious or theist, and those who aren’t sure where they stand, in hopes of enriching the intellectual and academic environment here at Silver. Please email the group at silver.saash@nyu.edu

Student Collective for Faith-Driven Social Work Practice
The Student Collective for Faith-Driven Social Work Practice (SCFSWP) is a socially-minded group of students interested in the role of faith-based social work practice. SCFSWP is committed to the development of well-informed social work practices as related to faith and/or religious needs and services of vulnerable populations and the broader community. The mission will be fulfilled through expert-led information sessions, peer-to-peer talks and community outreach. Please contact the group at silver.scfswp@nyu.edu

Student Collective for Global Social Work
The Student Collective for Global Social Work serves as a forum to discuss the roles of social workers internationally and the ethical and cultural issues in pursuing an international career in direct practice and policy. We also share resources about events, conferences, and workshops that discuss international human rights and social welfare issues, expand students' knowledge of career paths in international social work by bringing in professionals from the field, work in collaboration with faculty in advancing an international social work focus, and serve as a voice in the community in establishing a social workers' perspective in human rights and social justice issues on an international level. Contact the group at silver.scgsw@nyu.edu

Students of Color Collective (SOCC)
The Students of Color Collective (SOCC) works to provide a safe space for self-identified students of color at the Silver School to come together for peer support. SOCC also works with the larger School to create programming and educational opportunities related to racial diversity issues. To contact this group, please email silver.socc@nyu.edu.

Unity through Multicultural Education (U+ME)
U + Me seek to provide an educational and conversational forum for all students at NYU eager to broaden their awareness, knowledge, and experiences in regards to multicultural practices. We hold ourselves responsible of educating ourselves and elevating our knowledge of other cultures as a means to fight racism, discrimination, and judgement which we have come to realize exist in various levels within everyone. We seek to unite students of ALL cultural backgrounds to come together to share experiences and learn about experiences in order to implement this knowledge in our every day lives and practice of work. To contact this group, please email silver.uandme@nyu.edu.

The Student Lounge
Students at the Washington Square Campus are invited to enjoy the student lounge, located in the Garden Level of 1 Washington Square North. The student lounge features couches and tables, computers, a printer, the Graduate Student Association office, vending machines and bulletin boards. The student lounge is open from 8:00 a.m. – 10:00 p.m., Monday through Friday throughout the year, except during University holidays.

Student Affairs E-Newsletter
The Office of Student Affairs sends an email newsletter to all students about upcoming events at the Silver School of Social Work, at NYU and throughout the city. These emails also highlight campus-wide resources and organizations for career development, international students, and other services. Stay in the loop by checking your NYU email and Silver School of Social Work bulletin boards frequently.

NASW
Joining the National Association of Social Workers as a student is a real bargain, as you have reduced annual dues that extend through your first year post-graduation. Membership in the national organization also means a membership in the local chapter where there are many activities of interest to students and professionals. The professional organization provides publications to members as well as insurance and other benefits.

The New York City Chapter of NASW is an active, responsive organization with ample opportunity to interact with fellow professionals. There are many committees concerned with an array of issues and fields of practice. The Chapter sponsors a variety of social action activities (such as the register to vote campaign in the early fall). You can call the Chapter at 212.668.0050 for a schedule of committee meetings and attend a meeting at your convenience. Most committees are open to any Chapter member.

Once a year, the local Chapter sponsors a series of open meetings at the School to recruit new members, answer questions about the organization and allow you to get to know members of the executive board as well as alumni members. Feel free to call the New York City Chapter with questions you may have about the professional organization, current activities, etc.

Blogs
The Office of Student & Alumni Affairs coordinates three blogs to update the Silver School community on current events and happenings at the School, as well as to provide resources to students and alumni.

- Student Affairs Blog - http://blogs.nyu.edu/socialwork/student.affairs

Graduation
When nearing completion of coursework required for graduation, the University will inform students of their eligibility to register for graduation. This is completed via Albert. During this period it is crucial for students to check their NYU email accounts for ongoing graduation updates from the University and from the Silver School Office of Student Affairs.

Graduates are invited to attend the University-wide Commencement Ceremony and the Silver School Convocation held in May of each year. These ceremonies celebrate the graduates of those completing coursework in September, January, and May of each year.

Diplomas are automatically mailed to students’ permanent addresses about eight weeks after degrees have been awarded.

Students who anticipate graduating in the spring semester but who will be completing their Field hours in the summer semester are not considered Dean's Exceptions and will be able to fully participate in the Convocation and Commencement ceremonies. These students should apply for spring graduation via Albert.

Note that these students will be eligible to take the LMSW exam only after they complete Field hours in the summer and have their degrees conferred by the University Registrar that September. The degree conferral date is set by the University Registrar: http://www.nyu.edu/life/resources-and-services/nyu-studentlink/registration-records-and-graduation/graduation-and-diplomas/graduation-information.html#Deadlines.

Licensing
The most up-to-date information about licensing can be found on the Licensing Information section of the School’s website: http://socialwork.nyu.edu/students/professional-development/licensing-information.html.

Career Development
_The Wasserman Center for Career Development_
133 E. 13th Street, 2nd Floor
http://www.nyu.edu/careerdevelopment
212.998.4757

The Wasserman Center for Career Development facilitates the career development of NYU students and alumni in a supportive and innovative environment. They are committed to providing quality programs and resources that empower individuals and connect the NYU community with diverse learning experiences and career opportunities.

The Social Work Job Blog
Students and alumni are invited to look through social work-related job listings sent to us by employers. You can view the most recent listings submitted by employers on the Social Work Job Blog, which includes archives and job listings organized by category: blogs.nyu.edu/socialwork/jobblog.

Wasserman @Silver
Each semester, the Silver Office of Student Affairs and the Wasserman Center for Career Development team up to offer workshops for students about writing effective cover letters and resumes, improving their interviewing strategies and learning general job-hunting tips.

@SilverCPD
Found on NYU Classes, @SilverCPD is an online curriculum developed by Silver School faculty, alumni, and staff to provide students with the tools needed to manage their own professional development. It aims to provide a guided pathway for career planning, from exploring interests to developing a career vision, to teach students the skills needed to compete effectively in the job market, and to facilitate networking among students, alumni, and faculty. Ultimately, the goal of @SilverCPD is to equip students with the tools to manage their short-term and long-term career goals.

Loan Forgiveness Programs
Students can find information about loan forgiveness programs on the following page: http://socialwork.nyu.edu/alumni/career-licensing-resources/loan-forgiveness.html and also watch a video presentation here: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=kxYGBGODSnQ

University Services

Student ID
All students must have an NYU ID Card. You will need the NYU card to access all buildings, the library, computer labs and gyms. In addition, you can use your NYU Card as a debit card, but you must open a Campus Cash debit account. Campus Cash accounts are good at the Campus Bookstore, Coles Athletic Shop, Campus Eateries, some off-campus eateries and for discounted MetroCards. For more information about Campus Cash accounts please contact the NYU Card Center at 212.443-CARD or visit the Web site at www.nyu.edu/nyucard/

Writing Assistance
411 Lafayette Street, 4th Floor http://ewp.cas.nyu.edu/object/writing.center
212.998.8866

The Writing Center is available to all currently enrolled New York University students who have difficulty with writing. The Center is staffed with trained graduate student tutors who will work with students on a one-to-one basis. There is no cost. Please call for an appointment.
Computing Services

Computer Store
726 Broadway
http://www.bookstores.nyu.edu/computer.store/
212.998.4672

Information Technology Services
Internet and e-mail services are important tools – both for students’ education at the School and in your professional life. The University’s Information Technology Services will provide you with the assistance you need to establish and maintain these technology resources. Visit the ITS Web site (http://www.nyu.edu/its) or call 212. 998-3333 for information on how to get connected to the Web, activate your NYU e-mail, access Albert, and other services.

All students must have both Internet access and an NYU e-mail account in order to keep current with information from the School and to complete the work in some courses. Note that while you must establish an NYU e-mail address, you may continue to use a private account (such as Gmail) linked to your NYU e-mail account.

The Silver School Web Site
The School’s Web site at http://www.socialwork.nyu.edu is a good source of information about the School and important updates. Students and faculty are encouraged to visit the site, which includes important news and events, calendars, student manuals and school-wide forms, student blogs and other general information.

Information for Practice
We strongly encourage students to visit the Information for Practice website http://ifp.nyu.edu. This World Wide Web Resource for Social Workers (WWWRSW) was developed and maintained by Dr. Gary Holden in partnership with the Division of Social Work and Behavioral Science, Mount Sinai School of Medicine. The site is the gateway to a comprehensive array of information relevant to the day-to-day professional practice of social work, the education of social work students, and the development of social work theory, research and policy.

NYU Classes
NYU Classes is a course management software system that allows access to and administration of course content (e.g. course syllabus, assignments, etc.). It also provides access to numerous interactive tools such as discussion boards, messages, and online assessments. Students may access NYU Classes through their NYU Home account.

NYU Bookstore
726 Broadway
www.bookstores.nyu.edu
212.998.4667

The bookstore exchanges or refunds you if you return your books within 14 days, after that you can sell back your book for a percentage of the original price.
Libraries

Bobst Library and Study Center at Washington Square
70 Washington Square South www.nyu.edu/library
212.998.2500

All students must bring their NYU ID card to the library in order to be registered as a user. The library maintains a very useful Web page (http://www.nyu.edu/library) that gives library hours. Many (though not all) library services may be accessed electronically. Students may also access library information via NYU Home.

There are regularly scheduled library orientation talks and tours during the first few weeks of the fall semester. All students are advised to participate.

The Social Work Librarian, Arthur Tannenbaum (arthur.tannenbaum@nyu.edu), holds regular office hours during the academic year at One Washington Square North, Room G10.

Libraries at the Branch Campuses
Library orientation tours are arranged for off-campus program students during the early weeks of the fall semester. All students are advised to participate.

Services for Students with Disabilities
The Henry and Lucy Moses Center for Students with Disabilities 719 Broadway, 2nd Floor
www.nyu.edu/csd
212.998.4980

The center provides information and services to students with disabilities. Any student with a documented disability (e.g., physical, learning, visual, psychiatric, hearing, etc.), who needs to arrange reasonable accommodations, must contact the Center for Students with Disabilities Office. This should be done at the beginning of the semester.

University Health Services and Health Insurance
University Counseling Services (UCS)
726 Broadway, 4th Floor
www.nyu.edu/shc/counseling
212.998.4780

All NYU students enrolled in any degree program are entitled to UCS services. UCS is sensitive to racial, cultural and language concerns, and is LGBT affirmative. Students may call to make an appointment or visit during the walk-in hours.

Wellness Exchange
726 Broadway, 4th Floor
212.443.9999
The Wellness Exchange is your key to accessing the University’s extensive health and mental health resources designed to address your needs. You can call a private hotline, available 24 hours a day, seven days a week, which will put you in touch with a professional who can help you address day-to-day challenges, as well as other health-related concerns.

Health Insurance
Students are urged to take advantage of the University's Health Insurance Program. This program provides coverage for students and their dependents in the event of a major health problem. Enrollment into this program is automatic for any student enrolled in a degree granting program. If you choose not to utilize the health insurance program you must complete an online waiver form as soon as possible to avoid an automatic charge. All full-time students and part-time students are required to carry medical insurance and comply with all immunization requirements. Any health-related questions should be referred to the Student Health Center at 212.443.1000. More information can be found here: http://www.nyu.edu/life/safety-health-wellness/student-health-center/insurance-patient-accounts/student-health-insurance.html

The National Association of Social Workers has a group insurance program offering basic policies to individuals and families which may be purchased by members. Since various policies have different coverage options, it is advisable to investigate the benefits and limitations of each plan. For information about NASW health coverage call 212.668.0050.

Financial Aid
The first step to applying for financial aid (including federal, state, or private aid) is to complete the FAFSA – the Free Application for Federal Student Aid – and submitting the NYU school code: 002785. It is important to complete a FAFSA for each year that you would like aid. The FAFSA may be found at www.fafsa.ed.gov.

The NYU Office of Financial Aid will send you your financial aid offer and you may use Albert to accept or reject the entire offer or sections of the package. For further questions, contact the NYU Office of Financial Aid at 25 West 4th Street, or at 212-998-4444.

Additional scholarships may be applied to through the Silver School Office of Admissions in late spring of each year. For further questions, contact Admissions at (212) 998-5910 or in room 102 in the Silver School building.

Student Records
The Albert computer system may be used to access most student records including class schedules, enrollment verifications, and unofficial transcripts. Official transcripts may be requested from the University Registrar.

Student’s admission application and subsequent materials added to the file are the sole property of the University. Students must receive permission from the Academic Program Review Office 212.998.2310 to review the content of their folders. Materials from the folder may not be copied.

Note: The School will keep student folders for up to 7 years. It is the student’s responsibility to keep copies of field learning evaluations and Faculty Advisor summaries.
IX. THE SCHOOL

1 Washington Square North
All of the School's faculty and administrative offices are located in three Greek Revival buildings at the corner of Washington Square North and University Place, which are comprised of 1, 2, and 3 Washington Square North. While the 1830s townhouses – part of the famous “Row” described in several Henry James novels – have been modernized and the interiors combined, many attractive architectural details have been preserved. Of particular historical note are the Hopper Studios on the fourth floor, in which can be seen Edward Hopper’s easel and other artifacts, as well as photos of the famous artist.

Regarding building operations, please note the following guidelines:

- The entrance to 1 Washington Square North is around the corner on University Place. The building is open and staffed by a receptionist or Protection Services guard from 8:00 a.m. until 10:00 p.m., Monday through Friday.
- The Student Lounge, located on the garden level, is open from 8:00 a.m. until 10:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. The Lounge entrance to the building is locked. Use the main entrance on University Place.
- The School is wheelchair accessible via an alternate ramp entrance on University Place and an elevator. Since the elevator is quite small, those who can should try to use the stairs next to it so that the elevator is available for those who really need it.
- Please also note that there is no smoking in the building and that University policy prohibits the consumption of food and beverages in classrooms.
- Although the University rarely closes or cancels classes, there are occasions such as weather emergencies when it is necessary to close the building. For relevant information updates, call 212.998.1220 or consult the University Web site (www.nyu.edu).
- Students are required to show ID cards at all times to gain access to campus facilities including the School building.
- It is imperative that students exit the building promptly by the nearest marked exit should the fire alarm sound, unless otherwise instructed by School personnel. If students, faculty and staff do not leave, the School will be in violation of the University’s fire code and may be subject to a fine. All occupants must leave the building even if they think it is a fire drill.

Faculty Responsibilities and Committee Organizations

The faculty conducts the educational program, determines entrance requirements, sets standards of academic achievement to be obtained for each degree offered, makes and ensures procedural compliance for the guidance and conducts of the students, and certifies to the President of the University qualified candidates for degrees and certificates.

Much of the organizational work of the faculty is done through committees. Faculty members serve on the ten standing committees of the School: the Curriculum Committees (BS and MSW), the Promotion and Tenure Committee, the Faculty Grievance Committee, the Nominations and Elections Committee, the Executive Committee, the Faculty Search and New Appointments Committee, the Academic and Professional Review Panel, the Appeals to the Academic and Professional Review Panel and the Advisory Committee on Academic Integrity.

Students serve on the MSW Chairs Committee and on the BS and Ph.D. Program Committee, the Academic and Professional Review Panel, the Appeals to the Academic and Professional Review Panel, the Committee for Distinguished Teacher Award and the Committee for Distinguished Administrator Award. Student representatives are designated by the Graduate Student Association. Students also serve on University-wide committees, including the University Senate, the University Committee on Student Life, and occasionally on ad hoc committees.

The Branch Campus at St. Thomas Aquinas offers the Two Year, Advanced Standing, Extended One-Year Residence, Extended Program and part-time non-degree programs. The campus is located in Sparkill, New York, four miles southwest of the Tappan Zee Bridge in Rockland County. At the Rockland Campus, a student can earn a fully accredited Master’s Degree in Social Work (MSW) from New York University. All required classes for the MSW, which are taught by NYU faculty, along with appropriate resources and facilities, are available at the St. Thomas Aquinas College site. Students at the Branch Campus can learn about upcoming events by visiting the Branch Campus administrative office located at Maguire Hall, Room 229. This is also where students can pick up their mail when it is not distributed to them in the class. In addition, students should check the School’s website and their NYU e-mail account regularly. The Branch Campus also offers an Accelerated MSW Program for undergraduate students graduating from St. Thomas Aquinas College and Fairleigh Dickinson University. The program allows accepted students from respective campuses to begin their MSW study while completing their senior year of undergraduate coursework.

The Westchester Branch Campus at Sarah Lawrence College offers the Two Year, Extended MSW, Extended OYR, Advanced Standing and the part-time non-degree programs. The campus is located in Bronxville, New York, 30 minutes from mid-town Manhattan, in southern Westchester County. All required classes for the MSW degree, which are taught by NYU faculty, are offered on Friday on a part-time basis and on a full-time basis on Saturday. Tuesday and Thursday evening classes are also available.

The dual-degree program in child development and social work, leading to an M.A. in Child Development from Sarah Lawrence College and an MSW from the Silver School of Social Work, is a three-year program, if attended full-time. Part-time options are also available. Students take all of the courses for the M.A. at Sarah Lawrence College in year one and can attend any of our social work campuses for the MSW.

Personal Leave of Absence   NYU Counseling and Wellness Center
Physical Medical Leave of Absence    NYU Student Health Center Memo Psychological Medical Leave of Absence    NYU Counseling and Wellness Center
Memo

*For physical and psychological medical leaves, the semester of expected return is determined by the NYU Student Health Center or NYU Counseling and Wellness Center, respectively.
 Request for a physical medical leave requires approval from the NYU Student Health Center.
 Request for a psychological medical leave requires approval from the NYU Counseling and Wellness Center.
I understand that a leave of absence precludes me from taking courses at another academic institution.

I understand that it is my responsibility to notify my instructors, faculty advisor, and field instructor that it is my intention to take a leave of absence.

If I am not a United States citizen or permanent resident, I must contact the Office of Global Services and review the status and requirements pertaining to my matriculation while on leave of absence.

I understand that my academic plan may be out of sequence and I must develop an academic plan with my academic advisor to complete all coursework. I understand that I am not guaranteed a Field Instruction placement and/or concurrent Social Work Practice course the semester immediately following my return from leave of absence.

I understand that I am responsible for contacting 1) the University Financial Aid office to determine if I must take any action in relation to my loans or financial aid (212-998-4444 or www.nyu.edu/financial.aid) and 2) the Silver School’s Financial Aid office to determine if I must take any action in relation to my scholarship (212-998-5910 or silver.financialaid@nyu.edu). I am aware that a leave of absence does not exempt me from student loan repayments and that I am not entitled to loan funding while I am not taking classes. I must adhere to all deadlines for future financial aid applications. I understand that 100% of tuition and fee charges will be removed for the semester I initiate a physical or psychological medical leave of absence.

If I live in a residence hall, I will contact the NYU Office of Residential Life and Housing Services regarding the change in my residential status as well as adhere to payment and registration deadlines should I petition to live in housing upon my return. I understand housing may not be guaranteed upon my return.

I understand that it is my responsibility to contact the NYU Student Health Center and make appropriate arrangements regarding my student health insurance.

I understand that I will not have access to NYU facilities (i.e. gym, dorms, library, classrooms, etc.) while I am on a leave of absence.

I understand if I pursue Maintenance of Matriculation (MoM), I will be charged a MoM fee each semester and that I must follow the procedure for MoM each semester.

If on a physical medical leave of absence, I must receive approval from the NYU Student Health Center before taking the leave as well as upon my return.

If I am taking a psychological medical leave of absence, I must receive approval from the NYU Counseling and Wellness Center before taking the leave as well as upon my return. If I am an MSW student, I must meet with the MSW Program Director and Assistant Deans of Field Learning & Community Partnerships and Student & Alumni Affairs to receive approval for return.

As part of the process to return from leave of absence, I will notify my academic advisor at least two months prior to the start of classes to ensure time for proper planning for coursework, including Field Instruction.

I have read and understand the above terms pertaining to my request.

FINANCIAL AID REVIEW

Section I. Instructions to the Student

1. Carefully read Section II. Check each box to indicate completion. Then, sign and date.
2. Schedule a meeting with the Silver School’s Financial Aid Office to confirm your understanding of how a leave of absence may affect your loans, scholarships, and other financial aid. Ask the representative you meet to sign and date Section III.

Section II: To Be Completed by the Student

☐ I have contacted the University Financial Aid office to determine if I must take any action in relation to my loans or financial aid now and/or in future semesters (212-998-4444 or financial.aid@nyu.edu).

☐ I have contacted my loan providers to determine if I must take any action in relation to my educational loans and/or loan repayment.

☐ I understand that a leave of absence does not exempt me from student loan repayments.

☐ I understand that I am not entitled to loan funding while I am not enrolled in classes.

☐ I understand that I must adhere to all deadlines for future financial aid applications.

☐ I have contacted the Silver School’s Financial Aid office to determine if I must take any action in relation to my scholarship(s) now and/or in future semesters (212-998-5910 or silver.financialaid@nyu.edu).

By signing this document, I affirm that I have contacted the University Financial Aid Office, the Silver School of Social Work’s Financial Aid Office, and my loan providers, and that I accept full responsibility for the impact of a leave of absence on my loans, financial aid, scholarships, or other financial arrangements for the semester of the leave and future semester(s) of attendance.

APPENDIX D: OUTLINE FOR PROCESS RECORDINGS

II. Identifying Information
   a. Date
   b. Who was present? (Use initials or first name only for client identification)

III. Objectives for the Interview?
   a. What were your plans for interview?
   b. Note any particular concerns that you or your client had.
   c. What was the client’s agenda for the interview?

IV. Process
   a. Record the contents of the interview as well as verbal and non-verbal interaction between you and the client(s). This process recording should include your thoughts and feelings about what was happening as well as a verbatim account of the discussion between you and your client.
   b. It is helpful to divide each page into 3 columns:
      i. Column 1- Verbatim account
      ii. Column 2- Student’s comments
      iii. Column 3- Space for Field Instructor’s comments

V. Impressions
   a. How did the client respond to you?
   b. How did the client feel about his/her situation/problem?
   c. Your subjective reaction(s) to client(s).
   d. How did you handle the interview?
   e. Were your objectives achieved?
   f. What is your objective assessment of the client’s problem?
   g. Strengths?

VI. Planning
   a. Focus on future work with client(s).

VII. Questions
   Concerns, issues, problems for discussion in supervisory conference.
APPENDIX E: REFLECTIVE LOGS AND/OR JOURNALS

When a student begins the semester at the field learning site and may not have assigned clients, the field instructor may utilize reflective logs and/or journals to promote beginning skills in reflective and critical thinking. The reflective log and/or journaling may be used as an alternative to process recordings. The reflective log and/or journaling may also facilitate the field instructor’s understanding of the student’s educational needs as well as serving as a guide for making assignments to the student.

Reflective Log
1. Brief description of assignment
2. Purpose of the assignment
3. Identified goals
4. Anticipated obstacles
5. Progress summary
6. Assessment of activity
7. Reflection on ways of improvement
8. Activity summary
9. Revised Task Plan
10. Questions and issues for discussion with field instructor

Critical reflection questions for journaling:
1. Think about a time when you were the recipient of service, when you asked for, or someone offered you help. Describe the situation. How did you feel when you were in need? How did it feel to be helped?
2. Describe and discuss your initial impressions of your field experience: the setting, program, professionals and clients and any personal reactions to the experience thus far. Is there some experience that has already made an impact on you? If so, discuss that experience and reflect on your thoughts and feelings about it.
3. Describe and discuss how you are both similar to and different from the clients you are working with. What have you learned about the assumptions you might have had before you started your placement? How have these changed in your field experience thus far? Do you think you are making (can make) a difference in the lives of the people you are working with?

AD: Yeah, they do. I found that out too.

ST: I also wrote down a few names of your psychiatrists who are gay-friendly and work on a sliding scale.

AD: Do you think I need to see a psychiatrist? I mean do you think I'm really that messed up?

ST: Seeing a psychiatrist doesn't mean you're crazy. I do think that it might help you manage your anxiety especially since you've just received your HIV diagnosis. Remember we talked about depression being a common reaction at first?

AD: Oh yeah ... I remember. (He tears up and looks down)

ST: So what's been going on with you since we last saw each other?

AD: I've been having a lot of problems with my roommate recently and I actually feel like I'm more upset about that than I am about the HIV diagnosis. Maybe because it's so new and my doctor said I might not have to go on medication for years.

AD had seemed somewhat closed off until this point and visibly relaxes. He seems surprised and grateful that I took the time to write these names down for him.

I could see he was really nervous about seeing a psychiatrist so I wanted to normalize it for him.

Actually I feel he is depressed and anxious and I think maybe medication might help him but I don't know how to really bring it up since he's so anxious about seeing a psychiatrist.

I think I jumped into the next subject because I was nervous talking about HIV and depression.

Good work; I think you did a good job normalizing his anxiety about seeing a psychiatrist. I think however you could have 'stayed' a little longer with him on this.

How did you feel about him 'tearing up'? Let's discuss. It seems like the there was an abrupt change of topic after he became emotional.

I think you did 'bring up the subject of him seeing a psychiatrist' by educating him. Let's talk of other ways to 'bring this up' and then 'stay with it'.
ST: Can you tell me a bit more about what your relationship with your roommate is like?
AD: Well, the main problem is that he's also my landlord, so I'm constantly worried about making enough money to pay the rent. When my brother died - I went to California and had to put all my stuff in storage. Now I'm basically sleeping on a cot in my roommate's apartment.

ST: That sounds difficult. You returned from coping with your loss and now you're worried about where you're going to live.
AD: It is really devastating and now I'm really in debt and can't even get my things from storage.

ST: Tell me what this is like for you on a day to day basis
AD: Oh I never show what I'm feeling. I just let it go. I just try to move on and find a solution instead of dwelling on it.

ST: What about emotions besides anger?
AD: When my brother died and my mother fell apart I just wanted to focus on practical things and move on. I couldn't let myself really feel the pain. I just wanted to let it go.

I'm wondering if his relationship with his roommate fits into the care taking patterns he has with his family. He feels 'responsible' in most of his primary relationships.

The client has had to deal with a lot of different losses in the past few years - his brother, his negative status, his career and his apt and possessions.

The client seems unable to express emotions which may be connected to his tendency to feel responsible for the care of others rather than focusing on his own needs or feelings. I'm trying to find out more about this...

Why do think you're more curious about his relationship w/ his roommate than what he said about 'his doctor saying he might not have to go on medication for years'.

I think you've done a really good job here; good demonstration of reflective listening.

Good strategy; I like your asking him about what his life is like on a 'day to day' basis. It seems like he's really beginning to relax.

What did you think about him saying that he 'never shows what he's feeling' - is that what you expected?

What was the client's affect when he was talking about his brother dying? If he was flat it's OK to ask him about his lack of emotion, ST: It sounds like shutting off has become a coping mechanism for you. What would happen if you 'let go' instead of 'letting it go'?
AD: Hmm, that's really interesting. I don't know. I'm afraid that I wouldn't be able to do anything else. Being emotional is something that 13 year olds do, not 30 year olds. I've never had the luxury to dwell on emotions. I don't even have time to read a book. All I read are manuals that tell me how to do things. Feeling things is for people who have time to read books and who can spend all day talking about their feelings.
ST: What you are describing are two poles of existence. One is completely shut off from emotion and the other is excessively emotional. There's also a middle ground.
AD: You're right...you know when I feel like I'm in the middle? It's when I run; I used to be a long distance runner in high school.
ST: Do you still run now a days?
AD: Hardly ever...for some reason I stopped when my brother died. I'm just too stressed about everything.

His need to repress his feelings rather than express emotion is clearly a major issue to address. I'm also struck by his repetition of the phrase 'let it go'.

I want to find out more about what expressing emotion might mean to him

I think it's interesting that he is thinking about emotions in connection being 13 – this was how old he was when his father left. I wonder if this event precipitated his disconnection to his emotions as a coping response to loss.

He seems to view himself as resilient and tough and may be afraid of a complete loss of control.

I'm interested in what running means to him. I seem significant that he stopped when his brother died. I want to find out more about this.

I like the way you've reflected back to the client by using his own words – it shows you're really listening to him

I think you're doing a good job about trying to get at the reasons as to why he has a hard time expressing himself but it may be at the expense of encouraging him to tell you 'what it was like for him to lose his brother'. Let's discuss.

I agree he does seem to have a lot of resilience; I'd keep looking for opportunities to reinforce those strengths based skills with him.

Instead of trying to find out 'why he stopped running' it might be more helpful to look for ways he can 'keep running'. Let's talk about a strengths perspective versus deficit identification.
ST: Well I think you’d find it an important outlet for you. Maybe you can try to fit it in this week and then you let me know if helped.
(I look at my watch and realize 40 minutes has passed)
ST: You mentioned you could only stay ½ hour and it’s now 40 minutes. I just wanted to let you know so you can decide whether you need to leave now.
AD: I’m actually really enjoying this but I guess I should go. I only get a short lunch break.
ST: So, should we set up an appointment for next week?
AD: That would be great.
(Make an app’t and give him a card)
ST: Are you going to be able to hang onto this and keep it somewhere safe?
AD: Yes, I’ll keep it in my wallet.
ST: Good
AD: You know, I was really scared about coming back here and having to deal with stuff and that’s part of why I didn’t come back sooner.
ST: Are you feeling that way now?
AD: No, I feel much more relaxed about it now.

I want to encourage him to find ways to express himself and feel concerned that has stopped doing something that provided a significant form of release.

I probably should have kept better track of time but I think I felt that he would tell me when he had to go and that he may have initially set up the 30 minute limit due to resistance.

I want to remind him that it’s important for him to keep track of our app’ts and that he should make sure not to ‘misplace’ the card.

I’m glad that he said this and that he’s aware of his resistance rather than simply ‘forgetting the app’t’ and that he feels comfortable enough to tell me.

Let’s talk about scaling exercises you could do with him next time i.e. on a scale of 1-5 how has running helped his mood?

How do you feel about having to manage the time constraints with this client? It seems like it’s an important issue for you too.

I also want to talk again about finding a way to establish boundaries without sounding rigid. Let’s talk about using ‘humor’ with this client.

Let’s also talk about the significance of using the word ‘resistance’ even if it’s only in your progress notes.

Good job! There’s a lot of rich clinical work to talk about when we meet.
APPENDIX G: ADMINISTRATION RECORDING

Macro practice students may be required to document their activities with written materials such as memos and reports in accordance with the agency protocols just as Generalized Practice and Clinical students do with progress notes and charting. Such documentation also provides teaching and learning opportunities in the weekly supervisory sessions as do the administrative recordings that will be highlighted in this section.

Participation in a task group and attendance at meetings can provide a wealth of information and experience that corresponds with the content in the student’s administration practice classes. Meetings attended can take place either within or outside of agencies. These might include meetings of communities, task forces, teams, coalitions of Board of Director related to quality assurance and improvement, strategic planning, finance, program development, etc. Management styles, group dynamics, leadership, conflict resolution, collaboration, etc., can be viewed firsthand. When processed according to one of the proposed formats, the observations and interpretations not only increase the student’s understanding of macro principles, but also serve to focus awareness of self within the system. The field instructor can assign the meetings in accordance with the field learning objectives and the agency identity and mission.

Following are three examples of administrative recordings for social work students. The first is a meeting process recording. Second is the administrative activity log, a useful tool for planning and managing a specific field work assignment. The third is a sample of a journal entry, in which the student can record, in a narrative fashion, some aspect of the field experience with attention given to observation, self-reflection and questions for the field instructor.
MEETING PROCESS RECORDING

This format can be used to record a meeting that you attend either as a participant or observer. It can be a staff, department, board, committee, or task force meeting in your agency or in the community. You are expected to describe some aspects of what is taking place, reflect on what you observe, and give your interpretation of what each may mean. For this reason a 3 column format may work best. Include your name and date at the top.

<table>
<tr>
<th>WHAT OCCURRED</th>
<th>MY REFLECTIONS</th>
<th>HOW I INTERPRET THE MEANING</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

I. Begin with identifying information to set the stage:
   a. Title of meeting
   b. Location and time
   c. Numbers attending
   d. Who participants are
   e. Why they are there
   f. Specific purpose of the meeting
   g. Whether it is a regularly scheduled meeting or a one-time event
   h. Seating arrangements
   i. Who is chairing the meeting and any other formal positions

II. Present under “what occurred” exactly what you observed. For example:
   a. What goes on just before the meeting starts
   b. How the meeting got started
   c. Introductions
   d. Use of agenda
   e. What was covered
   f. Level of participation
   g. How decisions were made
   h. How the meeting closed
   i. Outcome(s) of the meeting

III. Present under “my reflections” what you think about what was going on. For example:
   a. Chair seemed to know exactly what she wanted to accomplish
   b. Participants knew each other quite well but several newcomers were left out
   c. Couldn’t stick to agenda
   d. Didn’t want to vote when decisions needed to be made
   e. Nothing seemed to get accomplished
   f. Participants seemed bored to be there

IV. Finally, give your interpretation of what is actually going on. These are your best efforts to explain and make sense of seemingly unexplainable observations. You may have to consider hidden agendas, motivations, and interests. Do not forget “organizational determinants of behavior”. Since it is unlikely that you will know for sure what is going on, this is the place to take risks and stretch beyond the obvious.

V. Identify questions for your conference with your field instructor.

Advance and Waiver Credit Policies
You may be eligible to receive credit for courses taken at a CSWE accredited program of social work or graduate degree program in a field related to social work. You can apply for a maximum of 12 advance or waiver credits (6 can be from electives). The following criteria must be met in order for advance or waiver credit to be considered:

- You must have received a grade of B or higher;
- The course must have been taken in the past five years;
- The course is not a Field Instruction or required social work practice course.

We strongly suggest that you read the course descriptions on our website (www.socialwork.nyu.edu) to determine if your courses are similar. Courses at NYU most frequently granted advance or waiver credit include the following: Human Behavior in the Social Environment I; Human Behavior in the Social Environment II; Social Welfare Programs and Policies I; and Social Work Research I.

You can apply for Advance Credit if you have completed comparable graduate coursework in a similar social science discipline or Council on Social Work Education (CSWE) accredited social work program and the course taken at another school was not used towards receipt of another degree. Advance credit allows you to replace required NYU MSW coursework with coursework taken at another school.

You can apply for Waiver Credit if you have completed comparable graduate coursework in a similar social science discipline and the course taken at another school was used towards receipt of another degree. Waiver credit allows you to replace a required NYU MSW coursework with an NYU elective course.

Application Process
Include the following with your application for advance or waiver credit:

- Official transcript with grades;
- Syllabus and reading list for each course.

Please submit your application and supporting documents to the Admissions Office. Syllabi and application can be submitted via email to: ssw.advancedcredit@nyu.edu. Incomplete applications will not be reviewed. The Advance Credit and Waiver Committee requires applications to be submitted at least 6 weeks prior to the beginning of the semester you would take the course for which the advance credit or waiver is being sought. Please note that you should submit a complete application before the end of your first semester.

Exceptions and Specific Policies:

- Advance Credit Policy for Undergraduate Social Work Majors Not Enrolled in our Advanced Standing Program: If you earned an undergraduate degree at a CSWE accredited social work program, you can apply for 12 advance credits using courses earned towards your undergraduate degree. The above criteria apply.

- Waiver Credit for Research Courses: Waiver credit for a required MSW research course allows students to choose a more advanced research course as an alternative. Options include approved electives in the MSW program, research methods courses in our School's PhD program, and other graduate research courses at NYU.

- Blanket Credit Policy for Advanced Standing Students:
  Admitted students to NYU’s Advanced Standing Program automatically receive 33 blanket credits. However, enrolled students who were admitted conditionally need to submit an official final transcript during their first semester that confirms their undergraduate social work degree in order to receive blanket credits.

- Students who have taken courses at NYU Silver School of Social Work as a Non-matriculated Student:
  If you earned a grade of ‘B’ or better in our MSW courses taken within the past five years, the credits automatically transfer to the MSW degree. Paperwork is not required.

Contact the Office of Admissions & Enrollment at (212) 998-5910 or e-mail ssw.advancedcredit@nyu.edu if you have any questions.
