Develop Expertise in a Specialized Field of Practice

Through our impressive range of electives and field placements, it is possible for you to concentrate your graduate education on specific aspects of social work.

Exploratory Options

NYU Silver offers two non-degree, exploratory options—one in-person and one online—that enable U.S. citizens or permanent residents with a bachelor's degree from an accredited college or university to enroll in select graduate-level courses without being admitted to our MSW program.

Students in our in-person Non-Matriculated option can take one or two courses per semester for a maximum of four courses (12 credits). The courses that Non-Matriculated students are permitted to take are Social Welfare Programs and Policies I; Diversity, Racism, Oppression, and Privilege; Human Behavior in the Social Environment I; Human Behavior in the Social Environment II; and Social Work Research I.

Students in our online ONRAMP (Online Remote Access MSW Preparation) option may take two sequential foundational courses—one per semester—for three credits each. The courses are Human Behavior in the Social Environment I and Human Behavior in the Social Environment II, and the first course is a prerequisite for the second.

Students in either of these exploratory options who decide to apply to NYU Silver's MSW program and are admitted will receive credits toward their degree for each course in which they earned a grade of B or better.

MSW Students awarded an NYU Silver scholarship must adhere to the minimum credit enrollment requirements as defined by the MSW program, and maintain good academic standing (minimum GPA of 3.0) in order to receive their scholarship for the duration of the program. Please note that federal funding such as federal loans are based on a different set of credit criteria for full-time and part-time status. Please refer to the Office of Financial Aid at NYU for these details.

Two-Year

As the traditional path to the MSW degree, the Two-Year option attracts the greatest number of students. The period of study is four semesters: fall-spring-fall-spring, including 1,200 hours of Field learning. Study during the summer is not required. Students spend two semesters in each of two different agencies, which are selected from among the more than 500 social service agencies throughout the metropolitan area that are affiliated with the School.

This pathway is available at our Washington Square, Rockland County, and Westchester County campuses.

16-Month Accelerated

An accelerated route to the MSW degree, the 16-Month option is identical to the Two-Year pathway in the sequence of courses. It is recommended that applicants have some social work or related experience. Students begin study in the spring semester and complete the program in four consecutive semesters, including an intensive summer term. The period of study is spring-summer-fall-spring, with two 600-hour Field placements.

This pathway is available at our Washington Square and Rockland County campuses.

Advanced Standing*

Advanced Standing is an accelerated route to the MSW degree, available to those who have graduated within the past five years from a CSWE-accredited undergraduate social work program. Study is nearly, but not exactly, identical to the Specialized Practice level (2nd year) of the Two-Year pathway. The period of study is two semesters: fall-spring, including 600 hours of Field learning at one Field placement.

This pathway is available at our Washington Square, Rockland County, and Westchester County campuses.

Two-Year Shanghai and New York*

NYU Silver’s MSW Program at Shanghai and New York is the only MSW program of an American university in China. The program provides the opportunity to experience an innovative global MSW education. Extended immersion in Shanghai and New York allows students to critically reflect on cultural, social, and economic similarities and differences between these two environments, and it enhances their learning about and capacity for culturally appropriate practice. This pathway consists of a Generalist Practice curriculum in Shanghai followed by a Specialized Practice curriculum in clinical social work in New York City. Students spend two semesters in a field instruction agency in each of the two years, for a total of 1,200 hours of Field learning experience.

Students choosing to do so must take 7 elective credits during their year in New York (usually 1 credit in January and 6 credits in Spring). Students who choose not to take Chinese must take 9 elective credits during the year in New York (usually 3 credits in Fall and 6 credits in Spring).

32-Month*

Designed for those who work full time, the 32-Month option allows students to earn an MSW degree over a 32-month period through evening, weekend, and summer study. This pathway is open only to new first-year MSW students who have at least three years of professional or business experience working with people. Students in each entering cohort take their first year of courses together. They also participate in a Practice Lab during the first two semesters that prepares them for the Field placement, which begins in the third semester. Courses and Field placements are scheduled during evenings and weekends, leading to the MSW degree in 32 months. The period of study for this option is eight semesters including summer, with 1,100 hours of Field learning.

This pathway is available at our Washington Square campus.

Extended

The Extended program is a flexible option that enables students to complete an individualized study plan arranged with their academic advisor. Two semesters of full-time study (minimum of 12 credits per semester) is required. The period of study ranges from three to four years, with two 600-hour Field placements. Students must be available at least one weekday for their Field learning site. Placements with evening and weekend hours are limited and cannot be guaranteed. Most students in this program take advantage of the option for study during the summer term.

This pathway is available at our Washington Square, Rockland County, and Westchester County campuses.

Extended One-Year Residence*

For employed social workers, the Extended One-Year Residence combines 37 credits of part-time study (fewer than 10 credits per semester) with two semesters of full-time study (minimum of 10 credits per semester), including one Field placement of 900 hours. Clinically supervised direct social work employment is required for entry into this program. Applicants must have provided two years of direct services to clients. An employment-based Field learning option is available to students employed in agencies that provide an appropriate educational experience as determined by the Office of Field Learning & Community Partnerships. The period of study ranges from three to four years.

This pathway is available at our Washington Square, Rockland County, and Westchester County campuses.

DUAL-DEGREE PROGRAM OPTIONS

The Silver School of Social Work offers four dual-degree program options in the areas of child development, global health leadership, management, and law. Each dual degree is described in detail on the following pages. A separate application for each school must be completed and each school will evaluate applications based on its own requirements. Special admissions standards are not applied to dual degree applicants at either school. Once admitted to both schools, applicants qualify for the dual-degree program.

The cost of the program is determined by the prevailing rates at each graduate school. If seeking financial aid, you must apply to each school separately. Different amounts of assistance may be awarded by each school; however, you may receive financial aid from only one school per semester. For a current course listing please check each school's respective website.

Residency indicates your full-time status at a school, which means you will be paying this school's tuition for the term. If you are offered a Silver Tuition Scholarship upon admission, it will be offered for four semesters while you are in residency at Silver.

MSW/MA in Child Development with Sarah Lawrence College

The Silver School has joined with Sarah Lawrence College to offer a dual degree in Social Work and Child Development. Students in this program can pursue study leading to an MSW and a master's in Child Development. Admission to both programs is required. By taking courses that are acceptable for transfer credit in each of the schools involved, and through careful course planning, the dual-degree student can complete both degrees full-time in three years. The program can also be completed on a part-time basis. All classes in Child Development are held at Sarah Lawrence College in Bronxville, New York. Students must begin this program at Sarah Lawrence College, completing one year of course work in developmental theory and an observational fieldwork placement. Social work classes begin after the completion of this first year and can be taken at any campus.

with the NYU School of Global Public Health

This interdisciplinary, three-year program with the NYU School of Global Public Health is for students who seek to combine social work and public health with a global focus. At completion of the program, students will have earned an MSW and a Master of Public Health (MPH). Courses are taught by faculty from relevant programs across five schools at NYU, including the Silver School of Social Work, the Robert F. Wagner Graduate School of Public Service, the School of Medicine, the College of Dentistry, and the Steinhardt School of Culture, Education and Human Development. Students in the MSW/MPH dual-degree program enroll as full-time students taking courses within each program concurrently. Neither degree will be conferred until the requirements for both degrees are fulfilled.

THE SILVER SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WORK

Founded in 1960, the mission of the Silver School of Social Work at New York University is to educate professionals in a global perspective for social work practice with individuals, families, groups, and communities, and to provide development of knowledge relevant to social work practice in complex urban environments. The School provides a rich environment for the education of professional social workers, offering programs at the bachelor's, master's, post-master's, and doctoral levels. Through faculty research, the School is a key source of scholarly research and publications directed at improving the practice of social work, evaluating social service and mental health programs, and developing new alternatives for meeting the needs of underserved populations.
