Program Overview

The DSW is a practice oriented doctoral degree, and the DSW program in clinical social work will prepare licensed social workers for leadership roles in academic and agency settings. Building on NYU Silver School of Social Work's recognized excellence in clinical social work training, the DSW program offers state of the art coursework on theory, evidence based practices, research, and policy, as well as intensive writing workshops. Our program provides the opportunity for an internship in either teaching or clinical supervision.

This executive-style program structure allows you to continue working full time. Courses and workshops will be held at our Washington Square Campus and conveniently scheduled on Wednesday evenings during the fall and spring semesters, and Monday and Wednesday evenings during a compressed summer session. Elective courses may be taken in other NYU schools in addition to NYU Silver. All classes contain an online component. In lieu of a dissertation, the graduation portfolio requirement consists of writing two publishable papers under the direction of an adviser and committee, as well as presentation of your work at a professional conference.

Core Courses Include:

Philosophies of Knowledge and Mind

Social Theories and their Relationship to Clinical Practice

Contemporary Theories of Clinical Practice I and II

Social Work Practice Research

Clinical Social Work and Social Policy: Past and Present

Implementing Evidence-Based and Evidence-Informed Practices

Contemporary Understandings of Human Development and Well-Being

Theories of Human Rights and Social Justice

Trauma-Informed Treatment and Treatment of the Addictions

Teaching and Learning in Social Work

Teaching or Field-Based Learning Internships

Publication Development Workshops I, II, and III

Capstone Course

Choice of three electives, including courses in other NYU schools

In lieu of one or more electives, students have the option of independent studies with NYU Silver faculty members.
