Explore the Dynamic Possibilities of a Social Work Degree for Global Practice

NYU Silver's MSW program at Shanghai and New York provides the opportunity to experience an innovative global MSW education. Extended immersion in Shanghai and New York allows students to critically reflect on cultural, social, and economic similarities and differences between these two environments, and it enhances their learning about and capacity for culturally appropriate practice. The program consists of a generalist practice curriculum in Shanghai followed by a specialized practice curriculum in clinical social work in New York City. Students spend two semesters in a field instruction agency in each city, for a total of 1,200 hours of field learning experience.

BILINGUAL PROGRAM

All courses will be taught in English. During the time in Shanghai, students will have their field placement at social service agencies, hospitals, schools, and other agency settings, as the field of social work practice is expanding in China. This field placement will be in either Chinese or English, depending on a student's language capability. During the time in New York, students will have their field placement in the greater New York metropolitan area, where a wide variety of agency settings are available. This field placement will be at a site where English is the primary language.

GLOBAL EDUCATION

In the Two-Year Pathway, students spend the first year at NYU Shanghai and the second year in New York City, at NYU's Washington Square campus. In the Extended Pathway, the first two years are in Shanghai and the third year is in New York City. The Shanghai-New York program is designed for students who want a truly global social work education. Global and multi-cultural content is infused throughout the curriculum. Upon graduation, students will receive an NYU-granted MSW degree.

THE SILVER SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WORK

Founded in 1960, NYU Silver School of Social Work has been a pioneer in training more than 18,500 social work practitioners and leaders in every field of practice. Renowned for its strong tradition of clinical excellence and dedication to social justice, NYU Silver is moving the practice forward, training MSW students in integrated health, palliative and end of life care, and other innovative and emerging areas of social work. In fall 2015, the School welcomed its first cohort of students in the MSW program at Shanghai and New York.

NYU Shanghai

Jointly established by New York University and East China Normal University, NYU Shanghai is NYU's third degree-granting campus, joining NYU Washington Square and NYU Abu Dhabi. It is also the first Sino-US joint venture university approved by the Ministry of Education of the People's Republic of China. Its state-of-the-art academic building in Pudong opened in August 2014. Fifteen stories tall, the building contains an expansive library, a 300-seat auditorium, a 150-person colloquium space, and kitchen and dining facilities. Also generously equipped with classrooms capable of accommodating varying class sizes, dedicated floors for teaching and practical laboratories for various sciences, intimate study spaces, and faculty and administrative offices, the building functions as a campus unto itself and as the center of a thriving academic community.
